Illinois Tells of Turning Down Offer of $2500 If He Would Kill 'Stooge' in Fake Bombing of Union Electric Tower.

EX-CONVICT SHOT IN COUNTY MONTH LATER

Victim, G. J. Appleton, Quoted as Saying He Could Make 'Easy $250'
Last Day He Was Seen Alive.

Hitherto undisclosed facts in connection with the unsolved murder of George J. Appleton, who was found shot to death in October, 1938, beside an electrical transmission line tower in St. Louis County, were related to the Post-Dispatch today by A. C. Ludwig, former Sheriff of Monroe County, Illinois.

Ludwig, now an automobile dealer at Waterloo, said that a month before Appleton was killed, a self-styled "investigator" offered him $2500 to take part in the murder of a man at a transmission tower in Monroe County, and make it appear that a tower bomber had been caught in the act.

The offer came, Ludwig said, from a man who represented that he was investigating the bombing of a Union Electric Co. tower at Valmeyer, which occurred several months earlier. The investigator made it clear, he said, that the intended victim was not to be the Valmeyer bomber, but a "stooge" who would be lured from St. Louis by the bait of a $2500 offer to bomb a tower in the north end of Monroe County.

Ordered Him Out of County. Ludwig, rejecting the offer, ordered the "investigator" to stay out of Monroe County, and warned him not to attempt to carry out his plot. He did not arrest the man on the spot, he said, to a Post-Dispatch reporter, because there were no witnesses to the conversation; and he did not see how the man could be convicted of any crime. "It would have been his word against mine," Ludwig said.

Within a month Appleton was found shot to death beside a St. Louis County transmission tower. On the last day he was seen alive, the Post-Dispatch has learned, he told a fellow workman on a paint job, "I can make an easy $2500 if I can get off early today."

Ludwig said the "investigator" visited his home on a night in September, called him to the porch and introduced himself.

"He gave me a name, which I have forgotten, and told me just to call him George," Ludwig related. "Without wasting any time he proposed that I join him in a plot to frame and murder a fellow near a Union Electric tower in the north end of the county."

"He said we could collect $5000 for making it appear that a bomber had been caught, and that we would split the money."

Did Not Name Intended Victim. "George did not name the man to be killed, but referred to him as a 'stooge' he would get in St. Louis by paying him $2500 to bomb a tower. He said, 'We'll hide in the woods, and you handle a machine gun and kill him.'"

In urging Ludwig to join in the plot, the "investigator" proposed that the Sheriff obtain dynamite, which would be given to the victim in advance, remarking, "dead men don't talk."

"He said I would get 'newspaper glory' out of the killing, and $2500," Ludwig related. "I asked him if he knew who bombed the Valmeyer tower, that I would arrest the bomber and bring him into court."

"He said he didn't know the bomber, that the man to be killed was just a 'stooge.' I then told him I would have nothing to do with his plot and warned him not to carry it out in Monroe County, and to get out."

"He left, and a few weeks later I picked up a newspaper and read about the same 'ray' that 'George' had outlined the proposition to me," Ludwig did not take the license number of the "investigator's" automobile, and he has not seen the man since, he said. He described "George" as being 35 to 42 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds and having dark hair.

Circumstances of Killing. Appleton, a former convict and strike breaker, was found shot to death on Page 11, Column 6.

"Dear Mr. Willmann," an exasperated deputy, on the early watch in the Sheriff's office, added today to the most recent of many reports of a sunrise dash from Clayton to 6541 Easton avenue, in response to a false burglar alarm in a grocery warehouse: "This alarm is an electric eye."

"We have had calls here six and seven times a week. As you are ready know, I've made it twice in one night and never find it broken into. It has become a nuisance."

"They have a bunch of cats in the place and these cats play on the boxes and around the electric eye. Don't you think it could be stopped by sending a letter to the alarm company and grocery company about getting rid of the cats or arranging the boxes so the cats jumping from them would not jump across the electric beam? Yours truly, George Baker."

Chief Deputy Arnold J. Willmann, coming on duty this morning, said Baker was about ready to go home, passed over the report—which he knew by heart—but studied the footnote. "I'll send the letter," he said.

Berlin Government Limits Aviation Traffic in That Area for Three Days.

BERLIN, July 21 (AP).—Maneuvers of the German air force will be held in the northwestern corner of Germany, bordering on The Netherlands, from Aug. 1 to Aug. 3, the official gazette announced today.

Field Marshal Goering, as Minister of Aviation, decreed limited air traffic in the area which extends from The Netherlands border along the North Sea coast to the Weser River, then as far south as the vicinity of Kassel, west through Muenster and back to The Netherlands border.

Exempt from the decree are Government and transport planes which are required to cross the 15,000-square mile area at an altitude not higher than 4500 feet. Flying at heights below 900 feet and within a radius of three miles of civil airports is permitted.

Air defense exercises also will be held in Berlin at the end of July, with a blackout for several nights. Sham raids, and trial mobilization of voluntary air protection squads.

Fixes 40-Cent Admission After 9:30 P. M. Offers Combination Tickets at Nearly Half.

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP).—New bargain prices were established for the New York World's Fair yesterday when two partial concessions were made by the board of directors to the clamor for reduction of the gate admission price from 75 to 50 cents.

A 40-cent admission was fixed for the amusement area after 9:30 p. m., effective Saturday, July 22. All exhibits outside the fun zone close at 10 p. m.

The board authorized a nationwide sale of 1,000,000 combination admission and concession tickets at nearly half price. The books will contain five gate admissions and 10 tickets for a choice of 10 out of 20 selected amusements with a total face value of $7. They will sell for $2.75.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Members of the White House "inner circle," at odds with Postmaster-General James A. Farley, are collaborating with a practical politician in whom they see a possible successor to Farley as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, the Post-Dispatch has learned. This man is Col. E. J. S. (Eddie) Donovan of New York and Palm Beach, who has conferred frequently in recent months with Thomas J. Corcoran, lately become the President's closest political adviser.

While Donovan has contributed to the party war chest in the past, he has never had an important place in party councils before, partly because Farley did not approve him. Farley has not been consulted on recent appointments to national and local offices, the Post-Dispatch has learned. It was only through the casual remark of a Cabinet member that he found out, a day or two before the news was made public, that the President had named Paul V. McNutt to the post of Federal Security Administrator. Farley, as is well known, has always disapproved of McNutt.

Relies on Party Loyalty. The Postmaster-General, who is also boss of the party, has been told by friends of the political activity centering around Donovan. He looks on it with amused tolerance, confident that party loyalties will adhere to him.

Already, according to one of Farley's close associates, numerous letters and telegrams have come to the Democratic chairman assuring him of the loyalty of state committee men and other workers in the field. They resent this effort to go around Farley, it is said.

"I am working for Roosevelt for a third term," Donovan said when asked about his present role. "That is my objective and I'm devoting most of my time to it."

He denied he was working with Corcoran. They have been seen, however, in frequent consultation in the Mayflower Hotel, center of this new political contacts.

For some time Donovan's activities have been something of a mystery. He has an apartment with an unlisted telephone in Washington's most de luxe apartment building. Most of his time, however, is spent in making political contacts.

Married Buffalo Boss' Widow. Some years ago Donovan married the widow of William (Fingy) Conners, Buffalo political boss and owner of a Great Lakes steamship line. Mrs. Donovan also inherited from her former husband a majority interest in the Buffalo Courier-Express.

They have a place in Palm Beach near the estate of Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy. Kennedy and Donovan are said to be close friends and political allies. Donovan took part in the 1932 campaign for Roosevelt but is said to have disagreed with Farley over methods of raising funds.

Farley was working hard today to clear his desk preparatory to departing tonight for New York. He will sail next Wednesday for a tour of Europe with his two daughters, planning to be absent from Washington until Sept. 11.

He was given a luncheon in a private Senate dining room yesterday by 20 Senate leaders. Responding to praise from several Senators, Farley made a humorous address in which he kidded Senator Sherman Minton (Dem.), Indiana, about "this candidate" for 1940, McNutt.

"I originally intended to go to Honolulu on this vacation but I was afraid that if I crossed the country it would be said I was interfering with your candidate," Farley said to Minton. "So I'm going to Europe. I believe in giving everybody a chance for the white alley."

After the luncheon Farley conferred for nearly an hour with Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, one of those present. Farley asked about the Supreme Court fight, said Farley, grinning, as he came out of Wheeler's office. Farley and the Third Term. The Democratic Chairman has never had a showdown with the President on the third term issue. Farley has thus far refrained from any public expression with respect to a third term, which, in the opinion of his associates, is the reason for the suspicious attitude that New Dealers such as Corcoran have for him.

Corcoran and Farley have not met for more than eight months. Formerly "Tommy the Cork" came to see the Democratic Chairman fairly often. While they frequently disagreed, they were on good terms. The White House advisers are said to feel that Farley is more interested in advancing his own career for 1940 than he is in the political fortunes of President

Vincent Hollenbeck, secretary-treasurer of William Houser, Inc., a building materials firm at 5131 Penrose street, was robbed of $1256 at 9:30 a. m. today by two men, who forced their way into his automobile as he was about to drive out of a parking lot south of the Lindell Trust Co., Grand boulevard and St. Louis avenue.

Hollenbeck had just obtained the money, in smaller denominations, at the bank, to meet a company payroll. After wrapping the money in newspapers, he went to the parking lot at 2727 North Grand and got into his machine.

As he started the motor, two men walked up to the car and one went to the left side of the machine and called to the other: "O K, here he is now." The other opened the right door and shoved a nickel-plated revolver at him, saying, "This is a stickup."

After ordering Hollenbeck to sit in the back, the two men got into the automobile. They made him bend down, leaning his head against the arm rest, so that he couldn't be seen very well from the street. Then they drove from the parking lot with the robber who was not armed driving the car. The other held the revolver at Hollenbeck's side and warned him not to call for help.

The robbers drove west to Fall avenue, south to Cottage avenue, then west to an alley east of Spring avenue. In the rear of 2442 North Spring avenue they stopped the car and made Hollenbeck get out. They then fled in his car, driving out of the alley to North Market street, and west on North Market. The car was recovered a half hour later in front of 3729 North Market.

Hollenbeck told police both men were about 39 years old. He said the armed robber was wearing a straw hat, dark trousers and white shirt. The other, he said, wore dark sun glasses, a felt hat and coveralls.

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP).—Many shares were $1 to $3 higher in trading in Wall street today. Brokers believed the statement of a German spokesman that Germany wished to avoid war and the decision of Congress to investigate the National Labor Relations Board were factors. Also there were more favorable second-quarter earnings reports from corporations. Business was rated ahead of the usual slow summer expectations, with prospects for improved autumn trade.

Gains of $2 or more a share were recorded for Douglas Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Du Pont, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber and Case. Worth street, textile trading center, reported another brisk run of business in a revival of forward buying of cotton cloth and other goods.

TOKYO, July 21 (AP).—A Naval Ministry source disclosed today that a section of the Japanese fleet was assembling in Northern waters as a result of a Soviet Russian threat to confiscate Japanese oil and coal properties. The size of the naval force, its base, and destination were not stated. The naval source declared, however, that "our ships and men are ready."

Asked if Japan were likely to take armed action to prevent confiscation, he replied: "In my opinion, that is possible. The situation is extremely grave."

(On Monday Soviet Russia announced rejection of a Japanese demand in ultimatum form regarding the rights of Japanese oil and coal concessions in Sakhalin Island, which is half Russian and half Japanese. It is off the Siberian coast.)

Word From Russia Awaited.

The Government awaited word as to whether Soviet authorities had carried out a threat to confiscate the property at a midnight Thursday deadline. No report had been received thus far either from Sakhalin or from Moscow.

At Moscow, Shigenori Togo, Japanese Ambassador, was engaged in negotiations with S. A. Lozovsky, Vice-Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, in a last minute effort to avert a clash.

Vice-Admiral Masazo Sakonji, president of the North Sakhalin Oil Co., said "Japan will never surrender her concessions."

"If necessary," he added, "we will occupy the island." Official circles expressed a fear of the repetition of the Nikoavsk massacre of 1920, when some 600 Japanese were killed.

The present dispute arises from a Soviet court decision levying two fines amounting to 700,000 yen ($190,000) on Japanese companies. The Japanese appealed, charging that Soviet claims were groundless. Then Thursday midnight was set for payment of the fine, with confiscation as an alternative.

THINKS BUSINESS IS HURT BY DELAY

Dispute Closed Till January
So Far as He Is Con-

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt in discussing neutrality legislation today said that from every capital in Europe—without exception—there was evidence of preparations for an eventuality that was believed to be fairly close.

At the same time, Roosevelt said it should be emphasized that there were no allegations of probabilities of trouble abroad, only statements of possibilities.

He contended at a press conference that a decision to defer action on neutrality legislation until the next session of Congress would hurt business.

A prominent business man, Roosevelt said, told him recently that failure of Congress to act on neutrality was killing the nicest little business house you ever saw.

Business men, the President asserted, do not want to make commitments because they do not know what form neutrality legislation may take when Congress convenes next year. They do not want to place orders or take them, he said.

For instance, he said, a newspaper owner, not knowing how a war might affect his business, would hesitate to place an order for a new press. Also, the President said it would take more than a place order to help him to call Congress into a special session to tackle the neutrality problem.

Recurring Threats for Years.

For several years, he added, there have been recurring threats which did not eventuate in war abroad, and there might be another which might not lead to actual conflict.

But the United States is not in a position to help in a situation of that kind, he said, under the present neutrality law with its arms embargo provision. Members of the Senate who conferred with him and Secretary of State Hull Tuesday night were fully apprised of that fact, he said.

It was at that conference that a decision was reached to abandon efforts to obtain immediate passage of a neutrality bill without an arms embargo section.

Members of the Senate who wanted to postpone action, Roosevelt declared, have been gambling with the possibility that war will not eventuate.

The chief executive indicated that the neutrality controversy was not until Congress reassembles next January, so far as he was concerned. Then he went on to discuss it at length with newsmen clustered around his desk in the study of his home here.

He was told that Senate isolationists were predicting he would carry on a prospective trip to the West coast.

Asks What Is Issue. Roosevelt wanted to know what neutrality issue existed. A reporter remarked that the arms embargo was the issue and the President then asked whether it was not closed until next January by action of the Senate.

There is and can be no immediate issue before the country, he amplified, because certain groups in the Senate precluded any action until January.

He said it should be made perfectly clear, of course, that those groups had accepted the responsibility for withholding action on neutrality.

About all we can do between now and January is pray there won't be another crisis, and pray awfully hard, Roosevelt declared.

Since Senators who attended the Tuesday night conference talked about it somewhat freely, the President said.

JERUSALEM, July 21 (AP).—A donkey boy brought to Jerusalem today a note from the Rev. Gerould R. Goldner of Mogadore, O., assuring his father of his safety but urging that the $5000 ransom demanded by his Arab kidnapers be paid today if possible.

The same messenger brought a note from the leader of the band which kidnaped the pastor Wednesday declaring that if the ransom were not paid the captors could not be responsible for Goldner's safety.

The first message, delivered to Dr. Jacob Goldner of Cleveland, pastor and father of the kidnaped man, said:

"Don't worry. I am sending this note with my donkey boy to you to convince you I am safe. Please bring the money if possible Friday. Affectionately, JERRY."

Two donkey boys accompanied the Goldners on the journey which resulted in the kidnaping. One was sent back with the father, who reached Jerusalem yesterday.

Meanwhile the father of the 29-year-old kidnaping victim prayed for the release of his son. United States Consul-General George Wadsworth continued efforts to free the younger Goldner.

The Arab intermediaries also took a hand in the negotiations. They were understood to have countered the kidnapers' original demand for $5000—repeated in the gang leader's note today—with an offer of $1000.

The kidnaping occurred as the father and son, on a holy land tour, were returning from a trip to a monastery at Mar Saba near the Dead Sea.

He was told that Senate isolationists were predicting he would carry on a prospective trip to the West coast.

MILLINOCKET, Me., July 21 (AP).—Hope virtually was abandoned today for Don Fencler, 12 years old, of Rye, N. Y., who became lost on Mount Katahdin's mile-high, rock-strewn wilderness four days ago.

Straying from a trail while on a climbing trip Monday with his father, Donald Fencler, and others, the youth was without food and thinly clad.

Harry Tingley, district forestry supervisor, seemingly expressed the viewpoint of woodsmen today when he said: "If it were my boy, I would have bidden him a sorrowful good-bye by this time."

The elder Fencler, after his first night's sleep since the boy vanished, joined National Guardsmen, timber cruisers, guides and other searchers but his attitude indicated to observers that he, too, had about given up hope of seeing his son alive again.

Asserts If He Didn't Mean

BERLIN, July 21 (AP).—A German Government spokesman, in one of the most unequivocal recent utterances on Danzig, said today Germany optimistically expects a solution of the problem favorable to the Reich, but rejects the idea of force to regain the Free City.

"Our Fuehrer is 100 per cent for peace," he said. "Now, as before, we expect an uncompromising solution of the Danzig situation along peaceful lines."

"Germany has not the least desire for a conflict of arms to bring about the uncompromising solution which we confidently expect. We reject 100 per cent such a warlike solution and would prefer extremely if that were the only way."

Saying that Adolf Hitler clung to the definition of the Nazi party convention at Nuremberg Sept. 2-11, as "the party day of peace," the spokesman added:

"If he did not mean it, don't you suppose we would have started to prepare the public by a press and propaganda campaign for another eventuality?"

The Foreign Office spokesman said common sense, including the realization that Danzig is a German city, was bound to prevail.

The official German belief is that the people of Britain, pledged to aid Poland if its independence is threatened, have no desire to fight Germany over Danzig and that therefore the British will exercise a restraining influence over Poland by counseling Danzig's return. Poland, Berlin officials believe, never would have been so unyielding except for British encouragement.

NEW APPEASEMENT BID IS LONDON VIEW

LONDON, July 21 (AP).—Pacific utterances in Berlin over the Free City of Danzig were interpreted today in Britain as a new invitation to the British Government to return to the policy of appeasement.

"Nobody ever doubted that Hitler would prefer to get Danzig without war," one British official said, "but, as long as Germany in that Danzig must return to the Reich, then the situation is not too hopeful."

In Rome, Fascists said they concurred wholeheartedly in the German spokesman's statement. In Paris officials were guarded in their comment but said they were inclined to regard the statement as a "possible change" in the situation.

The Berlin development came as talk which was without confirmation spread concerning overtures toward European "peace" discussions.

One report was that Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, might "very shortly" establish contact with Adolf Hitler "to find out just what his terms are for world peace."

Feeling in Whitehall. The general feeling in Whitehall was that the Berlin statement was Germany's answer to Prime Minister Chamberlain's remark of July 10 that the Danzig situation was "capable of improvement."

Though the official view here is that Danzig's present status is not perfect, officials insist that it is "neither unjust nor illogical" and they support the Polish contention that Germany

HATCH POLITICAL CURB ACT SENT TO ROOSEVELT

POSSIBILITY BILL IS HEADED FOR VETO

Would Affect 1940 Convention — Garner Men Jubilant Over Passage of Restrictions.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—The Senate approved today minor House changes in the Hatch bill prohibiting political activities by Government employees and sent the measure to the White House.

The action came after a plea by Senator Hatch (R., Mo.), author of the legislation, for the Senate to send the bill to the President's desk rather than to a joint Senate-House conference committee. Hatch said the latter course would mean the "graveyard" for the legislation.

To his colleagues he asserted vehemently that he had heard reports that a movement was under way to sidetrack the bill.

The New Mexico Senator recalled that the bill originally had passed the Senate without a dissenting vote and continued: "Let there be no pious recitations about being for the noble intentions of this bill."

He told his colleagues that the bill as it passed the House merely restated the objectives of the Senate and that any "maneuver" to send it to conference would not be to support the position of the Senate but to defeat it.

BILL GOES TOO FAR, ROOSEVELT VIEW

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Over the embittered opposition of President Roosevelt and the Democratic National Committee, the House late last night, by a vote of 242 to 143, passed the Hatch-Dempsey bill to divest government activities and benefits from politics.

There is a possibility that President Roosevelt will veto the proposal. He recently denounced the Hatch bill, declaring it badly drafted. He said it went too far.

The way to a veto was prepared by Representative Arthur D. Easley (Dem.), Massachusetts, chairman of the subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee, which tried to greatly modify the Senate bill to the advantage of the Administration. He denounced the amended bill as a thoroughly unconstitutional document which deprived citizens of due rights. He attempted to kill the measure for this session by demanding its recommendation to the Judiciary Committee. The House rejected the motion 223 to 146.

Various descriptions of a bill for "clean politics," a maneuver to aid Vice-President Garner's presidential campaign, and a blow at the prestige of President Roosevelt, the measure, if it became a law, would prohibit all employees in the executive department, including Postmasters, Marshals, District Attorneys and Internal Revenue Collectors from active participation in political management or political campaigns.

The President, Vice-President, Cabinet officers and a few other top-ranking administrative heads, however, would be exempt.

The bill also includes stringent provisions against political intimidation, coercion and interference with relief workers, including supervisors. These provisions in the Hatch bill had the support of President Roosevelt.

The 1940 Convention.

The bill as it now stands forbids practically all Federal administrative employees to take part in primaries and political conventions as well as elections. These provisions are expected to deprive the Roosevelt Administration of direct control of the 1940 convention by Federal appointees.

It will be recalled that a survey by the Post-Dispatch just before the 1936 Democratic convention at Philadelphia disclosed that well above half the delegates and alternates were direct or indirect beneficiaries of the Federal payroll. This survey attracted nationwide comment and explained the subsequent unanimity of the convention on what would usually have been controversial issues.

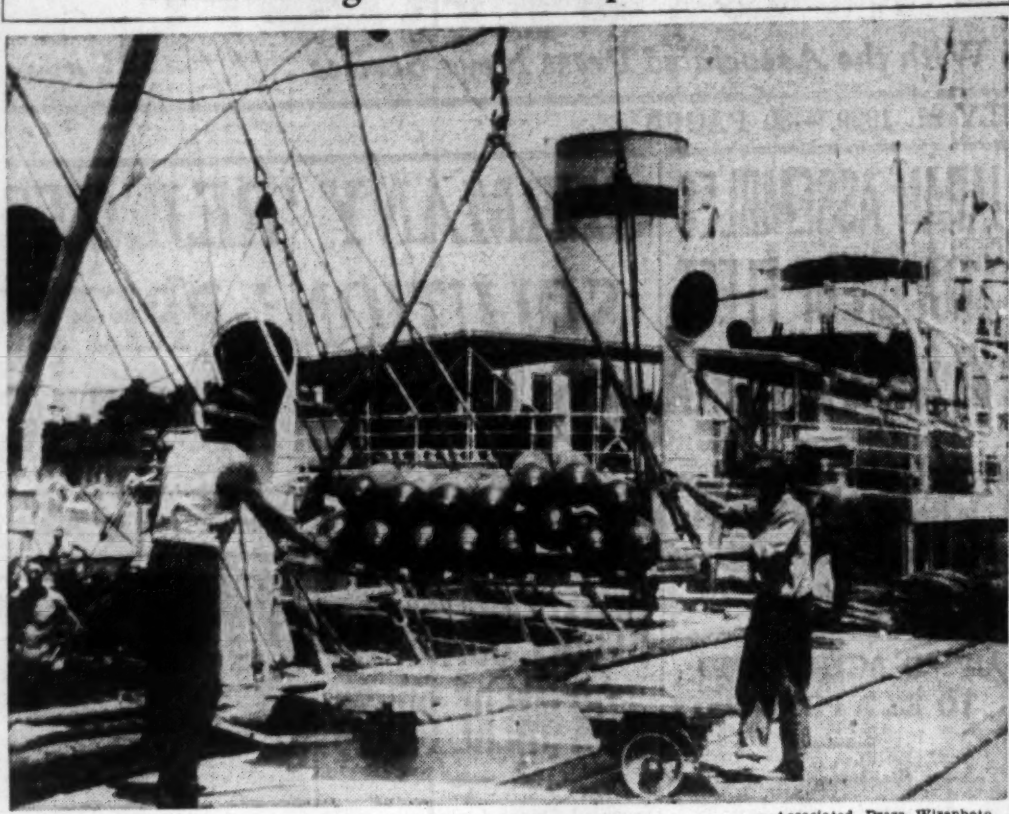

The bill was forced through the House last night after almost 12 hours of debate. Republicans, under the iron discipline of minority leader Joe Martin, joined with a large group of Democrats to ride roughshod over the administration forces who conducted a last ditch filibustering fight.

Garner Men Jubilant.

Vice-President Garner's supporters were jubilant today over their victory in the House. They recalled that the Texas candidate had forecast several weeks ago that the Hatch bill "will pass before sine die adjournment."

Garner was so certain of victory that he broke a long-standing rule and permitted reporters to quote him directly.

All support for the House bill, however, was not based on politics. Chairman Ramspeck of the Civil Service Committee declared he favored a severely restrictive bill "because I'd like to get all Federal employees under civil service—and as soon as we can take them out of politics—then you fellows will be willing for me to put them in civil service."

Democratic National Chairman Farley and his publicity aid, Charles Michelson, have conducted an undercover pressure campaign against the bill. Their arguments were that its enactment would play directly into the hands of the Republican organization, which, they said, gets its campaign contributions from the rich and well-to-do, while the Democrats have to rely on small contributions from officeholders. They concede that it is highly doubtful whether the Democratic National Committee can continue to obtain running expenses by the so-called "Jackson day" and "Victory" celebrations for which Federal employees pay many times over the actual cost of the dinners.

There is also a question as to how far the organization can go in requesting contributions from Federal employees.

Joker Amendment Beaten.

As part of the administration filibustering tactics, Representative Duncan (Dem.), Missouri, offered a declaration that it had nothing to do with the Commander Stephen King-Hall news letter printed here for distribution in Germany.

Germans had charged that Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax was supporting the news letter. (King-Hall, a retired naval officer, has sent appeals to "Dear German readers" denouncing Hitler's foreign policy and predicting German defeat in case of war.)

Foreign Undersecretary Richard Austen Butler told the House of Commons: "I take this opportunity of repeating the categorical denial given in the German broadcast of the British Broadcasting Corporation of July 14 that His Majesty's Government are in any way connected with or responsible for these letters."

In the London talk of overtures toward European peace discussions there were reports current in some foreign diplomatic circles that Britain might favor some "new and sensational attempt to come to a settlement with Germany."

Still Against War, Fascists Say.

Dispatches from Rome, meanwhile, said Italians concurred wholeheartedly in the German view that the return of Danzig to Germany could be accomplished without war. Fascists have been advising Poland for some time to avoid trouble by letting Germany have Danzig.

An Italian conviction that Germany would refrain from a settlement by force was reported when the German-Italian military alliance was signed in May. Hitler then was reported to have given Mussolini assurances along this line.

Fascists cited Mussolini's decision to break up big landed estates in Sicily and settle them with small farmers over a 10-year period, announced yesterday, as a further indication that Italy wished to avoid war.

Virginia Gayda, authoritative writer, asserted in Il Giornale D'Italia:

"Once more by its obvious measures for peaceful work Italy makes known that it is not thinking of any initiative subversive to European peace."

Gayda said Italy, however, maintains its own claims on France in Tunisia, Jibuti and Suez Canal just as Germany insists on having Danzig.

GERMANY 'REJECTS WARLIKE SOLUTION' OF DANZIG PROBLEM

controlling Polish access to the sea. Chamberlain laid down the basis of British policy toward Danzig July 10, in which he did not rule out the possibility of Polish-German negotiations over Danzig.

"It may be that in a clearer atmosphere possible improvements could be discussed," he said. "Indeed, Col. Beck (Polish Foreign Minister) has himself said in his speech of May 5, that, if the Government of the Reich is guided by two conditions, namely, peaceful intentions and peaceful methods of procedure, all conversations are possible."

Whitehall is now asking whether today's Berlin statement was Hitler's method of trying to create the "clearer atmosphere." But officials pointed out that Chamberlain specifically mentioned "possible improvements" of the Danzig situation, and the view here is that incorporation of the Free City into Germany hardly is susceptible to that interpretation.

CZECHS IN FOREIGN LEGION FORMING NEW REGIMENT

Negotiations on to Transfer 4000 Soldiers From Poland to Morocco.

PARIS, July 21 (AP).—A new regiment, formed almost exclusively of veterans of the old Czechoslovak army, was reported today as being organized at Sidi Bel Abbes, Algerian headquarters of the French Foreign Legion.

Agence Radical Independante, organ of a wing of Premier Daladier's radical Socialist party, said 600 former Czech officers and soldiers who joined the Foreign Legion recently had been kept in a solid unit.

These men, the agency said, were being trained to form the central units of an entire Czech regiment. Negotiations are under way, the report said, to transfer more than 4000 Czech soldiers now in Poland to Morocco, where they would be incorporated into the new unit.

ALLEGED LEADER OF SPY RING EXECUTED IN FRANCE

Said to Have Sold Information to Foreign Power During Munich Crisis.

NANCY, France, July 21 (AP).—Louis Lucien Franck, a blacksmith, 31 years old, was executed today for having sold information to a foreign power during the Czechoslovak crisis of last September.

A brief communique announced that he had been executed. Presumably he died before a firing squad. Details were kept secret under a new law.

Franck was said to be the leader of a spy ring. Two other men, a laborer and a clerk, both French, were sentenced to life imprisonment. President Albert Lebrun yesterday refused Franck's application for a pardon.

Black and Brown Uniforms Increase on Danzig Streets.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, July 21 (AP).—Men in both black and brown uniforms were increasing in number on Danzig streets today.

The Nazi SA men—storm troopers—wear brown uniforms; the SS, or elite guards, wear black. Polish and Danzig investigating commissions continued their separate inquiries into the frontier killing yesterday of Witold Budziewicz, a Polish soldier, by Max Stein, a Danzig customs official.

The Poles contended the soldier was shot without reason as he sought to question three men who had crossed into Polish territory near Postelau. Danzig authorities asserted Stein fired in self defense when a rifle was aimed at his head. They said Stein had been removed from duty pending completion of the inquiry but was not under arrest.

Japan Assembles Fleet Near Sakhalin

SAKHALIN HAS CAUSED FRICTION BETWEEN JAPAN AND RUSSIA FOR YEARS

SAKHALIN ISLAND, 600 miles long and from 18 to 100 miles wide with a population of 344,000—332,000 in the Japanese half—has been a friction spot between Russia and Japan for many years.

The island was occupied by Japan in 1904 during the Russo-Japanese war and up to the end of the war Japan received the southern half. In 1920, after the Bolshevik revolution, Japan occupied the Russian half, but eventually withdrew on receipt of valuable oil and coal concessions in the northern, or Russian, spot between Russia and Japan for many years.

On July 4 it was reported from Tokyo that the Japanese Ambassador to Moscow had protested against "obstructionist tactics" of Russians on Sakhalin. This was followed up last Sunday with a note which Moscow authorities said was in "ultimatum form."

An announcement by Tass, official Soviet news agency, said the note "raised questions connected with the unlawful activities of Japanese troops and concessionaires on Sakhalin Island, and also contested known decisions of Soviet courts concerning unlawful actions of Japanese concession owners on Sakhalin Island."

The Japanese have asserted that the Soviet court actions were leading to confiscation by heavy penalties on Japanese enterprises.

The Japanese Foreign Office said no ultimatum had been delivered but Japan had asked for a reply by Tuesday to forestall execution of the Soviet court decision against the Japanese firms.

cause of strong Soviet artillery support in the rear.

Justifying their claims of a draw the Japanese say they have counted 1700 enemy dead on the battlefield, of which 1500 were Russians. Last week Moscow reported the Japanese and Manchoukians last 2000 killed in the Khalka battle. Although the battle has quieted down there has been no real cessation since July 2.

Moscow Silent on Reports of Possible Mongolian Parley.

MOSCOW, July 21 (AP).—Official circles are silent regarding foreign reports that Japan was ready to negotiate with Russia for settlement of the conflict along the Outer Mongolian frontier.

Last summer, the Changkufeng vest pocket war near the Siberian-Manchoukio-Korean frontier was ended by negotiation just when Soviet Government and Tokyo reports from the front seemed the most discouraging to peace.

In this connection, last night's Moscow news broadcast was interesting. It contained an item to the effect that travelers returning from Harbin, Manchoukio, said the hospitals there were full of Japanese wounded on the Outer Mongolian front, and that Japanese were removed to have concentrated troops for a big offensive on that frontier.

The present conflict, however, is not between Japan and Soviet Russia officially. The Soviet attitude throughout has been that fighting would cease automatically as soon as Manchoukio and the Japanese ceased invading Outer Mongolia. Soviet troops, it was said, were only helping the Mongolians resist aggression in accordance with the Soviet-Outer Mongolian mutual defense pact.

Soviet Planes Said to Have Flown Over Heart of Manchoukio.

SHANGHAI, July 21 (AP).—Reports reaching Shanghai from usually reliable foreign sources today told of a flight by Soviet Russian planes over the heart of Japanese-protected Manchoukio.

One report said 84 Soviet scouting planes flew over Mukden early Wednesday morning and continued as far as Antung, on the Manchoukio-Korea border. No bombs were dropped, the report said, the flight apparently having been made for the moral effect.

Such a flight would demonstrate the Soviet air force could reach any point in Manchoukio, the Japanese army's base for continental operations.

Reports from Manchoukio said the entire country had been placed under night black-out orders since Fururiji and Halunashan were bombed last week.

CIO Says Only Thing Left to Appeal to Roosevelt.

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP).—CIO looked toward Washington for a signal for the next peaceful settlement of dispute with Armour & Co., threatens a strike in the packing industry.

After Armour executives' suggestion of a Chicago Council subcommittee to enter negotiations with the Inghouse Workers' Organizing Committee, the union issued a statement saying:

"The only thing left for our moment is to carry out instructions of delegates to the national convention of the PWOC to entire matter before President Roosevelt for his opinion on whether or not Armour & Co. shall meet with officials of PWOC and negotiate a contract effort to carry out the letter of the Wagner Act."

Asked whether the case had been prepared for submission, President, Van A. Bittner, chairman, said:

"The matter is being considered in Washington. Mr. Roosevelt John Lewis (CIO chief) said a half hour yesterday."

The PWOC has threatened a meeting is held on a national wage contract. Armour co. it was complying with all relations of the National Labor Relations Board.

Armour executives said the chief issue, a national contract should be placed before the Board.

3 MORE DANZIG POLES JAILED, SAY WARSAW PAPERS

Press Publishes Reports on Inside Pages as Government Seeks to Restrain Public Feeling.

WARSAW, July 21 (AP).—The Polish Government sought today to keep public opinion within bounds in the face of continuing incidents in Danzig.

News that three more Poles had been arrested in the Free City was received with the same restraint which characterized the killing yesterday of a Polish frontier guard by a Danzig customs officer.

Polish newspapers published on their inside pages stories that a Polish priest, Father Bernard Wielecki, a postal worker from Zopot named Kosciuszko and a railway worker, Augustyn Potrykus, were being held by Danzig authorities.

The papers said no reason was given for the arrest of the priest; but the postal worker was reported to have been accused of smuggling Polish newspapers into the Free City while the railway employee was said to have been detained for "political reasons."

Willing to Accept Apology.

Official circles still declined to comment on the killing of the frontier guard until investigations are completed. It was believed, however, that apologies from Danzig authorities might be accepted as closing the incident.

An informed source said that "if Poland exhibits restraint over what is happening in Danzig it is because we are determined to be objective in watching the situation and to be ready to act if it becomes necessary."

"To lose restraint, to permit ourselves to be provoked would be to respond as Germany wants us to respond."

Obstacles to Negotiation.

Foreign circles, while not denying the possibility of negotiation of Polish-German issues if Germany should be willing to proceed on the principles laid down by Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck in his speech of May 5, are of the opinion that the Polish army and Polish public opinion present two firm stumbling blocks to such a course.

DEMONSTRATION BY CIO AT ARMOUR EAST SIDE PLANT

Union Makes Display of Strength as Part of Campaign for Nationwide Contract With Firm.

200 MEN IN PARADE AROUND BUILDINGS

Dues Collected and New Members Are Sought — Police Watch Activities; There Is No Disorder.

The CIO Packing House Workers Union conducted a demonstration at the Armour & Co. plant in the National Stockyards near East St. Louis today to show its strength and attempt to enlist the remaining non-union employees in its organization.

About 200 union members paraded around the Armour plant, largest in the stockyards. They collected dues from union members who were not paid up and stopped all non-union employees, urging them to join.

The demonstration was part of the campaign of the national union, the United Packing House Workers of America, to obtain a contract covering Armour plants throughout the country. It was not a strike and there was no disorder. It lasted from 5:30 to 8 a. m. The time at the packers' and slaughterers report for work.

One of Strongest Locals. The union, which was declared a bargaining agent at the plant last year by the National Labor Relations Board, says it has 1400 of the 1580 Armour employees. It is one of the strongest CIO locals at any of Armour's 29 plants. It has no contract.

Yucis, financial secretary of the local, told a Post-Dispatch reporter he collected about $1000 in dues this morning. He said another demonstration would be conducted in a few days at which time non-union employees would enter the plant.

He added that he was of the opinion that the union would not obtain a contract at Armour & Co. without a strike. "They used to tell us that they couldn't sign a local contract," he said, "and now when we are asking for a national contract they say they won't do that."

Support in Event of Strike. At a meeting of packing workers last night at Polish Hall leaders of other CIO unions pledged their support in the event of a strike. Speakers included Vernon Ford, a member of the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing Committee; Thomas Watkins of Memphis, Tenn., an organizer for the Longshoremen's Union, and representatives of the steel workers, electrical workers and the St. Louis Industrial Union Council.

Nine policemen from National City, carrying riot sticks, watched the demonstration but did not interfere. They were headed by Chief of Police William Mulcahy, who told the demonstrators they were not to block traffic. Company police patrolled the packing house grounds.

Two days ago the union filed suit in United States District Court in East St. Louis seeking an injunction to restrain the National City police, the St. Louis National Stockyards Co. and the Armour and Swift packing houses from interfering with the civil rights of union organizers.

CIO Says Only Thing Left to Do Is to Appeal to Roosevelt. CHICAGO, July 21 (AP).—The CIO looked toward Washington today for a signal for the next step in a peaceful settlement of a dispute with Armour & Co., which threatens a strike in the meat-packing industry.

After Armour executives rejected suggestion of a Chicago City Council subcommittee that they enter negotiations with the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing Committee, the union issued a statement saying:

"The only thing left for us at the moment is to carry out instructions of delegates to the national policy convention of the PWOC to lay the matter before President Roosevelt for his opinion on whether or not Armour & Co. officials shall meet with officials of the PWOC and negotiate a contract in an effort to carry out the spirit and letter of the Wagner Act."

Asked whether the case had been prepared for submission to the President, Van A. Bittner, PWOC chairman, said:

SALE OF HAMILTON-BROWN LEATHER BRINGS IN $191,186

Nothing for Unsecured Creditors—Credit for Amount on Claim of Eastern Loan Company.

Unsecured creditors of the bankrupt Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. will derive no benefits from the sale of more than 1,000,000 square feet of upper leather, Trustee William H. Killoren said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today. Receipts of the sale, held Wednesday and yesterday at the company's plant at Eighth and Marion streets, totaled $191,186.

The Commercial Factors Corporation of New York, a subsidiary of Commercial Investment Trust, had a chattel mortgage on the leather as security for a loan of $189,000. Expenses of the sale Killoren said, amounted to about $2000.

The trustee said the deficit of about $7000 would be added to the claim of Commercial Factors against the accounts receivable of the shoe firm. The loan company advanced money to Hamilton-Brown, with accounts receivable and inventories as security, at interest rates of 8% and 10 per cent.

Prosecutor's Attitude. Prosecutor Dyer said he was willing to release his brief for publication if counsel for the company would agree to make theirs public, and there was no objection by the court. Judge Woolfolk told Dyer he had no objection if Dyer and company counsel were willing to furnish copies to the newspapers.

Robert J. Keefe, Union Electric attorney, refused, however, to agree to this. He told the reporter that, at the time the brief was presented to the court, Judge Woolfolk was requested to keep it confidential and not to give it to the newspapers.

This was done, Keefe explained, because it was felt that the brief was being furnished to Judge Woolfolk for his private use. He added that before the brief was filed the question of making it public was discussed with other company counsel and it was decided that it would be "in the interests of the case" if the contents were not published.

He said, however, that he would confer with other counsel this afternoon to decide whether they would change their position and furnish copies to the newspapers.

At Discretion of Court. Briefs filed in support of arguments on motions of this nature are not strictly public records. They usually contain an elaboration of oral arguments touching upon matters in controversy, and are given to the court to aid the judge in reviewing the facts and consulting the authorities submitted. As a general rule they are kept with the court records and are available to the public, but it is within the discretion of the court to withhold them.

The suit, charging the company with violation of the State Corrupt Practices Act, is based on the company's action, exposed by the Post-Dispatch, in contributing to campaign funds of candidates in St. Charles municipal elections, and in placing a company propagandist in the guise of a reporter, on the staff of the St. Charles Cosmos-Monitor.

In its demurrer, the company attacked the jurisdiction of the court to issue a decree forfeiting the company's charter, the penalty for violation of the act. The point at issue in the demurrer is whether the company is "located" in St. Charles County, within the meaning of the act.

The company's brief was filed June 15 and Dyer submitted his Monday. The company is expected to present its reply brief next Thursday. Judge Woolfolk said he had started a study of the documents.

In their arguments, Union Electric's attorneys contended that the term "located" was confined strictly to the seat of the business headquarters as set forth in the charter, meaning, in this instance, St. Louis. Dyer, in reply, argued that the term covered any county in which the corporation was engaged in business.

UNION ELECTRIC KEEPS BRIEFS IN SUIT SECRET

St. Charles Prosecutor Willing to Give His Out but Company Won't Consent.

Briefs in support of arguments on the demurrer of the Union Electric Co. of Missouri, in its first attack on the charter forfeiture suit filed against it by Prosecuting Attorney David A. Dyer of St. Charles County, have been filed by the company with Circuit Judge Edgar E. Woolfolk at St. Charles.

Judge Woolfolk, who has the matter under advisement, refused yesterday to make copies of the briefs available to a Post-Dispatch reporter, stating the briefs were not part of the public court record, but that they had been submitted to him for his personal use in determining the issues. He said it had been his policy and practice not to make public such documents.

Prosecutor's Attitude. Prosecutor Dyer said he was willing to release his brief for publication if counsel for the company would agree to make theirs public, and there was no objection by the court. In its demurrer, the company attacked the jurisdiction of the court to issue a decree forfeiting the company's charter, the penalty for violation of the act. The point at issue in the demurrer is whether the company is "located" in St. Charles County, within the meaning of the act.

The company's brief was filed June 15 and Dyer submitted his Monday. The company is expected to present its reply brief next Thursday. Judge Woolfolk said he had started a study of the documents.

In their arguments, Union Electric's attorneys contended that the term "located" was confined strictly to the seat of the business headquarters as set forth in the charter, meaning, in this instance, St. Louis. Dyer, in reply, argued that the term covered any county in which the corporation was engaged in business.

Navy Officer, Girl Killed in Crash. PHILADELPHIA, July 21 (AP).—Lieutenant-Commander Henry A. Stuart, U. S. Commander Stuart had been slated to leave today to join the supply ship Vega at Norfolk, Va.

POLICE LEAVE BRIDGE; TRUCKING IS RESUMED

Machines of Columbia Terminals and Other Transfer Firms Move as Usual.

Trucks of the Columbia Terminals Co. and other large transfer companies, which suspended operations across Eads Bridge yesterday after several drivers were arrested for failure to have State Public Service Commission permits, resumed freight-hauling activities across the river shortly before noon today, when a detail of police and commission officers left its post at the west approach of the bridge.

Wade T. Childress, Columbia president, had announced earlier today that operations would be resumed in the hope police would not interfere. He said departure of the enforcement detail had not resulted from the company's efforts to obtain the commission's consent to operate.

A request by the company that the commission withhold enforcement of the law against Columbia pending a court decision growing out of yesterday's arrests was denied by the commission at Jefferson City today. Members of the commission told an attorney for the firm that it had no authority to stop enforcement.

The attorney said the company took the position that under the law carriers operating within a city and its suburban limits were exempt from provisions of the law and that East St. Louis, although in another state, should be considered within the suburban limits of St. Louis.

No Explanation of Step. The enforcement detail, which went to the bridge at 8:30 a. m., left at 11:15 on instructions from a man, presumably connected with the commission, who declined to identify himself to a Post-Dispatch reporter or to say why the detail had been called off. Within five minutes trucks of the Columbia firm and others were moving across the bridge unimpeded.

Officials of the Police Department, City Counselor's office and Department of Streets and Sewers, all of whom have co-operated in the city's enforcement campaign, which started Monday, to enforce the permit clause of the eight-year-old Missouri truck law, told reporters they did not know the reason for removing the detail at Eads Bridge and referred inquiries to the commission at Jefferson City.

At Jefferson City members of the commission said they knew nothing of the details of the enforcement campaign at St. Louis. John C. Higginberg, head of the bus and truck division of the commission, left Jefferson City for St. Louis yesterday. He could not be reached here today.

Commission records show the Columbia firm has permits as a contract hauler within Missouri, but no permit as an interstate hauler. The company operates 400 trucks across the river.

Other Firms That Suspended. Other truck firms which suspended along with Columbia yesterday were the Lucking Transfer Co., Ben Gutman Truck Service, Inc., and George R. Jansen Transfer Co.

All four companies have contracts with the railroads for hauling between freight terminals and shippers. In addition, Columbia has a contract for hauling of less-than-carload lots between railroad terminals on either side of the river.

Eleven drivers of interstate trucks were arrested yesterday in the city's campaign to enforce the eight-year-old Missouri truck law. This brought total arrests to 151. In addition, two bus drivers for the Vandalla Bus Co. were arrested yesterday for failure to have permits.

Detective Lieut. Robert Sweeney slipped a rope over the steer's neck in the 700 block of Collinsville avenue, and suffered a severe rope burn and a sprained right wrist when the animal bolted.

Three Bitten by Squirrel. St. Charles Police Hunting Animal, Believed to Have Rabies. St. Charles police today were seeking a squirrel, believed to be infected with rabies, after it had bitten three persons, Mrs. Catherine Snyder, 721 Decatur street; Mrs. Olivia Kottmann, 412 North Fourth street, and Police Judge Fred E. Mindrup, 533 North Fourth street. The two women were bitten yesterday, Mindrup today. All said they would take the Pasteur treatment.

Archbishop Warns Against Gambling in Church Picnics

Tells Priests He Will Invoke Penalties Against Violators of Rules—Says Fr. Maxwell Apologized for Recent Incident.

Archbishop Glennon sent a pastoral letter to priests of the St. Louis diocese today warning them that gambling at Catholic church picnics and benefits is forbidden and that he would invoke canonical penalties against violators of this order.

The letter was occasioned by the recent letter in the camp operated near Hillsboro, Mo., by the Rev. Charles P. Maxwell, pastor of the Ave Maria Shrine, at which Jefferson County authorities seized two slot machines and broke up a dice game.

Archbishop Glennon said Father Maxwell "regrets the scandal he has given and he has accordingly expressed to us his apologies in so far as he has violated the diocesan statutes."

Printed in Catholic Papers. The letter was printed in the two St. Louis Catholic weekly papers and will be read in the churches on Sunday. It mixes no words in expressing the Archbishop's displeasure with "the frequent and growing complaints" about gambling at church affairs.

After reviewing previous warnings by the Archbishop about gambling and referring to synodal laws on the subject, the letter states: "We declare anew that the above laws are in full force. We expect faithful and entire obedience to them. Otherwise we will be compelled to inflict canonical penalties on the violators." (Pastoral letter, "concerning 'benefits,'" Dec. 7, 1937.)

These penalties might be as severe as depriving a priest of his faculties—that is, forbidding him to make use of his priestly offices, or dismissing him from his parish.

Strict observance of the rules by "the faithful of the archdiocese" is also expected by the Archbishop. Text of Letter.

The text of the Archbishop's letter follows: Regarding the recent occurrence at Father Maxwell's Camp for Boys on Sunday, July 9, and the publicity given it in the secular press, we deem it proper to call to the attention of our Catholic people the following diocesan statutes, forbidding and condemning Sunday picnics, etc., and gambling:

1. Synodal law concerning fairs, picnics, lotto and card parties and excursions: "We altogether prohibit on Sundays, under any pretext whatsoever, public entertainments or festivities, commonly called fairs, picnics, lotto and card parties, and excursions, whether these are conducted by parish priests or by Catholic societies." (Diocesan Synod, 1929, n. 47, p. 38.)

2. Pastoral letters concerning "benefits," lotto and card parties: (Lenten pastoral letter, Feb. 15, 1928; circular letter to the pastors and to the superiors of religious institutions in the diocese, Sept. 23, 1933; pastoral letter, "concerning 'benefits'" for churches, schools, institutions and Catholic societies, Dec. 7, 1937.)

"The laws we refer to are . . . our diocesan synods and our pastoral letters—condemning and forbidding:

The holding of these entertainments (fairs, festivals, picnics, lotto, bingo, raffles and card parties, and similar entertainments and devices) on Sundays or holidays of obligation.

Gambling devices and games such as lotto promoted ostensibly for the benefit of churches, schools, institutions or Catholic societies, where cash prizes or valuable prizes with a cash equivalent are offered. This evil we have frequently referred to as unworthy of our Catholic people, as causing much scandal and inducing the gambling habit among the participants.

Consequently—in view of these frequent and growing complaints—we hereby declare anew that all the above laws are in full force. We expect faithful and entire obedience to them. Otherwise we will be compelled to inflict canonical penalties on the violators." (Pastoral letter, "concerning 'benefits,'" Dec. 7, 1937.)

We expect the strict observance of the above rules and regulations by the priests and faithful of the archdiocese.

Father Maxwell regrets the scandal he has given and he has accordingly expressed to us his apologies in so far as he has violated the diocesan statutes.

Raid on Boys' Camp. A picnic at Father Maxwell's camp for boys was raided July 9 by Sheriff Arch McKee of Jefferson County and a State highway patrolman. The sheriff arrested Father Maxwell and a man who identified himself as Edward Wrinkle.

Father Maxwell in a statement after the picnic denied that there "had been gambling for high stakes." He said there were "just a few chuck-luck games and a few fortune wheels on which you might win a basket of groceries for a dime."

Killed in Plunge From Ninth Floor. GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 21 (AP).—Mrs. Harry N. Grout, 57 years old, Oak Park, Ill., plunged to her death yesterday from a ninth floor window of an office building. She was the widow of a former president of the Mercantile Trust & Savings Bank at Chicago. Police were unable to learn whether Mrs. Grout fell accidentally or jumped. She had been alone in the reception room of an optometrist.

STRIKING EMPLOYEES PICKET VENETIAN BLIND CONCERN

Head of Artcraft Co. Says Union Did Not Authorize Picketing

About 50 employees of the Artcraft Venetian Blind Manufacturing Co., 3960 Olive street, who went on strike yesterday, continued picketing today.

Oscar Brand, company executive, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the strike was not authorized by Local 187 of the Casket Workers' Union, which has a contract with the company. He asserted union officers had requested the workers to return to their jobs. The union is an affiliate of the A. F. of L.

Brand said no demands had been presented by the strikers. The firm is advertising in newspapers for new workers, but Brand said at present he was only taking applications. Union officers could not be reached for a statement.

TAX JUDGMENT AGAINST JUDGE C. B. FARIS' ESTATE

$405 Is Alleged Due; Similar Action Against Holdings of Late

Personal property tax judgments were entered today by Probate Judge Glendy B. Arnold against the estates of United States District Judge Charles B. Faris, who died last December, and Edward F. Godwin, who lived at 4439 Westminister place, left property inventoried at $27,983. No inventory has been filed of the estate of Godwin, who lived at 4487 Lindell boulevard.

The award against the estate of Judge Faris is for $405.82, based on taxes due in 1937 and 1938. The award against the Godwin estate is for $174.43 for four years' taxes, ending in 1938. Claims for the taxes were presented by City Collector William F. Baumann.

Judge Faris, who lived at 4439 Westminister place, left property inventoried at $27,983. No inventory has been filed of the estate of Godwin, who lived at 4487 Lindell boulevard.

Sam Shanker Promises Judge He Will Not Try to Set Up Another Shop in City. Sam Shanker, former proprietor of a tailoring shop in the Ambassador Building, was fined $100 and costs today by Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin when he pleaded guilty of setting up a lottery.

At the time of his arrest last February police were informed that he sold chances on suits, the winners being determined by United States Treasury figures published in newspapers. Winners complained, however, that when they went to get their suits they were shown cheap clothing, but told they could buy better ones for $25 extra.

Judge McLaughlin exacted a promise from Shanker that he would not attempt to establish another tailoring shop in the city.

JAPANESE REPORT
BRITISH YIELDING
IN TOKYO PARLEYSir Robert Craigie Has Third Talk With Foreign Minister on Tientsin, Schedules Another.TOKYO, July 21 (AP).—British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie
Craigie and Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita discussed British assistance to China today in the third of their meetings on the Tientsin dispute. They arranged to confer again tomorrow.A Japanese informant asserted there had been an "important" British concession "on assistance to China" but gave no further details.
Today's meeting lasted one hour and 40 minutes, the shortest period of any of the sessions thus far, and the Foreign Office in announcing a further meeting tomorrow said
"some progress" had been made.The two men have been engaged in preliminary negotiations on the dispute at Tientsin, where the British concessions have been blockaded by the Japanese since June 14, to lay the groundwork for a formal conference.There were indications a general session might be held next week, with Maj. G. A. Herbert, British Consul in Tientsin, and Sotomatsu Kato, Japanese Minister-at-Large in China, participating.It was admitted some hitch might develop but two facts were interpreted as meaning that the talks had reached a new stage:After today's conference, Arita reported to Premier Baron Kichiro Hiranuma and the Premier summoned a special Cabinet council session for 9 a. m. tomorrow.After tomorrow's Cabinet meeting, the Premier will report to Emperor Hirohito at the Imperial Palace at Hayama.Japanese said that in previous discussions with Craigie, Arita strongly emphasized a charge that Great Britain had not been neutral in the Chinese-Japanese war, asked for a guarantee that this policy would be abandoned and requested an agreement to discuss general principles before concrete Tientsin issues were examined.Japanese informants said Arita won two important points: first, when Britain met in principle the Japanese request for discussion of general principles, and second, when Britain made what they interpreted as an indirect admission of British aid to China.Craigie was reported to have taken the position that any British assistance to China was given under Britain's commitments as a signatory of the nine-Power treaty and a member of the League of Nations.Japanese said the Ambassador refused to refer to Britain's agreements "with other powers."U. S. and France to be Consulted on Any Agreements.LONDON, July 21 (AP).—The Foreign Office said today that the United States and France were being informed of every step in the British-Japanese conference at Tokyo and that Britain would not act alone to appease Japan in China.A spokesman said Britain could not make any agreement with Japan affecting the major interests of other Powers in China without breaking its treaty obligations.Further instructions were sent last night to Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie. The spokesman said, however, that no report had been received from the Ambassador on his talk today with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita."It is quite true," the spokesman said, "that Britain cannot shut her eyes to the hard facts of the military situation out there (in China), but in view of suggestions that Britain is about to make a deal with Japan at the expense of China
I would like to stress that the United States and French Governments are being informed of every step of British negotiations with Japan."The suggestions to which he referred had appeared in the London press.New Anti-Foreign Pressure by Japanese in North China.TIENTSIN, July 21 (AP).—The Japanese army's anti-foreign campaign in North China gained fresh momentum today.Japanese military, political and commercial circles here, at Peiping and in lesser cities north of the Yellow River announced new steps against British interests.At the same time, American and other foreign merchants said newly imposed import and export regulations, along with regulation of currency exchange rates, had slowed their business virtually to a standstill. Many feared ruin.Japanese say the measures are aimed at the British, but Americans and others stated they were suffering equally. The Japanese-controlled Chinese press, referring to application of the regulations, declared it would not take long for all American and European goods to become extinct in North China.Leading British firms received letters from Japanese concerns stating the Japanese were "forbidden to carry on business with the British henceforth."Japanese quarters indicate that Japanese-directed Chinese were preparing a campaign for a boycott of British goods among Chinese.
The press urged a "complete anti-British boycott."Many of the Chinese leaders who work under Japanese direction were enlisted in the anti-British crusade.
At Peiping, Haiminhui, the Japanese-organized political party of North China, threatened punish-ment for all who work for or do business with Britons.Anti-British Advertisements.
Large advertisements, signed by Japanese-appointed Chinese leaders and published in the Japanese-controlled press, said all Chinese employed by Britons must leave their jobs immediately and that landlords must cancel leases to British firms.Those who disregard the warning, the advertisements said, would be considered disturbers of the "new order of east Asia" and would be punished together with their families.Several thousand Japanese held an anti-British meeting near the Peiping legation quarter, with a Japanese in an army major's uniform as leader. The meeting adopted a resolution declaring "the British must be driven out of Asia."After the meeting, army coolies were sent to pick up the hundreds of empty beer bottles.The anti-British campaign in Shansi province was said by missionaries arriving at Shanghai to have reached the proportions of mob violence. The missionaries said properties at Hungtung were damaged by demonstrators and that missions there and at Linfou were abandoned by Britons. A few Chinese mission workers were left.Japanese Occupy Swabue After Bombarding Defenses.HONGKONG, July 21 (AP).—
Swabue, Kwangtung province port midway between Hongkong and Swatow, has been occupied by Japanese forces after naval and aerial bombardments which demolished Chinese shore defenses.Chinese reports from Swabue said several hundred Japanese bluejackets were landed last night. The Chinese said the invaders lost heavily.The landing force pushed into the interior after Swabue was taken.
Since the attackers were not supported by army units it was believed the Japanese merely were ending Chinese use of the port which, since the loss of Swatow, has handled considerable junk-borne Chinese trade, especially exports to Hongkong.No Question of U. S. Participation in Talks, Hull Indicates.WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).— Secretary of State Hull indicated today the United States and Great Britain have been exchanging information on broad aspects of the British-Japanese controversy at Tientsin, but that there was no question of American participation in conversations at Tokyo on the Tientsin blockade.Asked whether the United States would offer its mediation in the Tokyo discussions between Japan and Britain, Hull said he did not think Britain had sought this country's good offices.

tentiary.The robbery was that of the Frisco System shop at 617 South Broad-

TO RUMANIA FOR GRAINGermany to Get 30,000 Carloads of Wheat and Italy 20,000 by Barter.BUCHAREST, July 21 (AP).—An agreement by which Rumania will barter 50,000 carloads of wheat to Germany and Italy for armaments was reported today by informed sources.These sources said the deal called for delivery in September of 30,000 carloads to Germany and 20,000 to Italy, with the price fixed at $6,000 per carload (about $222) a carload and with payment to be made in military supplies.The average Rumanian carload of wheat is about 387 bushels, which would make the price about 88 cents a bushel, considerably above the world price. Wheat sold as low as 47¢ cents at Liverpool today.Explanation of the high figure placed on wheat for this deal apparently is high German prices for the goods to be exchanged.Thus, diplomats said, the Rome-Berlin axis paradoxically will assist Rumania's feverish rearmament, which is spurred by concern that the axis might help Hungary and Bulgaria recover territories which they lost to Rumania in the World War. Rumania has received British pledges of military aid to maintain its independence and has signed a trade accord with Britain.The wheat-arms deal was arranged following signature of an agreement between the Rumanian industry ministry and a German trade delegation which prescribes methods of fulfilling the general trade accord concluded last March.Under that treaty, a large German-Rumanian company financed by Germany will be set up to handle trade between the two countries.
German experts will direct the company, whose large powers will include the creation of schools to teach industrial and agricultural technique to Rumanians.Government sources said that King Carol, who sailed last night from Constanza aboard the royal yacht, will spend 10 days in Greek waters and will talk with Greek Premier Gen. John Metaxas and Greek military leaders.First, however, he will visit Istanbul for a conference with Ismet Inonu, President of Turkey. It was understood he would discuss military co-operation in case Bulgaria or Hungary sought to take back by force what they lost to Rumania in the World War settlement. Turkey and Greece have British pledges of armed aid similar to that given Rumania.Michael Wolff Says Two Found He

18 MONTHS FOR DEFRAUDING SEEKERS OF COURT LENIENCY

Man Who Promised to Use "Influence" for Persons in Trouble Admits Cheating Their Relatives.

Richard A. Sharts pleaded guilty in Court of Criminal Correction today of obtaining money on the false pretense of wielding "influence," and was sentenced by Judge James W. Griffin to serve 18 months in the workhouse in consecutive six-month terms on three charges, with a fourth to run concurrently.

Sharts had collected $5 "to buy cigars for the Judge" from one person with a son under charges in Circuit Court, and $3 to $11 from 33 others on his representations of ability to obtain parole or other favors for relatives in trouble. Four warrants were issued.

Bates, who lived at 1409 Baker avenue, East St. Louis, was working on a scaffold when his body touched a 440-volt line, causing him to fall against the other line.

AUTHORITY SOUGHT TO HIRE 66 FOR NEW BLISS HOSPITAL

Workers to Consist Principally of Kitchen Help and Attendants.

Authority to hire 66 new employees when the Malcolm A. Bliss Psychopathic Hospital, Grattan street and Park avenue, is opened Oct. 1, was asked of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday by Director of Public Welfare Joseph M. Darst and Hospital Commissioner R. L. Thompson. The board took the request under advisement.

The new workers, consisting principally of kitchen help and attendants, would be in addition to City Hospital personnel who will move to the new institution, across the street. At least a floor and a half of the six-story Bliss Hospital will be used temporarily for non-psychopathic patients of City Hospital, pending completion of the City Hospital building program, now under way.

The Bliss Building has been completed except for electrical installations in the X-ray department which has been delayed because of a decision to seek new bids for the work. It had been planned to open the building Aug. 1.

STAUNTON (ILL.) MINISTER
KILLED WHEN AUTO UPSETS
The Rev. F. M. Latham, Returning From Montana Trip, Fatally Hurt in Nebraska.
OGALLALA, Neb., July 21 (AP).—
The Rev. F. M. Latham of Staunton, Ill., was injured fatally and his wife was hurt when their automobile upset on the Lincoln Highway two miles west of here yesterday. A tire blew out. They were returning to Illinois after a visit with a son in Billings, Mont.

President Won't Recall Congress for 'Mere Crisis'

dent was asked whether he cared to say anything from his angle.
Only One Disagreement.
He denied there were any clashes at the meeting, which was attended by both Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate. Reports of clashes, he said, were made entirely out of whole cloth. There was only one disagreement between any of the individuals present, he said. Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, he went on, did intimate rather clearly that his private information from Europe was better than that received by the United States Government.

After Secretary Hull had taken Borah up on that point, Roosevelt said, the Senator finally asserted he had not meant to imply his information was better. The whole affair, the President said, was couched in very parliamentary language.

Asked whether Vice-President Garner had "stepped into the situation," the President said he had not. He said Garner had not made a statement, attributed to him by some of the press, to the effect that to the effect that: "We might as well be candid, Captain. You haven't got the votes."

May Change Plans for Trip.
With reference to his trip to the coast, the President said plans might be changed, that he might spend some time along the Atlantic Coast and go to San Francisco later to visit the Golden Gate Exposition.

He did not indicate whether he was contemplating any cruises on the Atlantic seaboard, however. The President had expected to leave for the coast soon after Congress adjourned, see the exposition and then go up the "inside passage" to Juneau, Alaska. But he said it appeared Congress might be on the job until Aug. 5 and he had been advised that he might arrive in the West too late for the trip to Alaska because the fog got bad in the passage.

Several times the President stressed that the Senate had assumed full responsibility for delaying a vote on neutrality. It became clear at Tuesday's conference, he said, that Republicans would vote in a mass to defer action and that about a third of the Senate Democrats would join them.

That, he said, did not even raise the question of whether a majority or minority favored a neutrality vote, because under Senate rules any sizable group can prevent action.

There was nothing further to discuss, he said, adding that the country understands the situation.
Cites Neutrality Editorials.
Picking up a sheaf of clippings from his desk, Roosevelt said they were an amazing series of 45 newspaper editorials which showed a widespread demand, regardless of political affiliations, for having something done to make this country neutral and to avert war.

Some of them, he said, were from the Boston Herald, Philadelphia Inquirer, Portland Oregonian and Los Angeles Times.

In response to a question, the President said it was probably true that 80 per cent of the commodities exported to belligerents in the World War would not come under the present arms embargo. But he said probably a large portion of those shipments were agricultural products, such as wheat and cotton.

Favors Transport Bill Action.
Representatives of railway labor and management have been informed that Roosevelt wants House action on a bill for regulation of railway, water and highway transportation.

The President said he had so advised E. E. Norris, president of the Southern, and B. M. Jewel, head of the Railway Employees' Department of the A. F. of L.; at a White House conference in Washington yesterday. Norris and Jewel are members of a committee of six which drafted for the President, recommendations for aiding the railways.

Roosevelt said he told them that he had asked Chairman Lea (Dem.), California, of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, author of the regulatory bill, to urge the Rules Committee to give the measure legislative right of way.

The President caught up on his mail on a special train coming up from Washington last night. He and Mrs. Roosevelt have accepted for tomorrow an invitation to a clam bake, an annual affair, at the Fishkill estate of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

Borah Wants to Let Both Sides Tell What Happened.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—
Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, suggested today that the customary injunction against discussion of what goes on at White House conferences should be lifted so that "both sides" could tell what happened in them.

He made the suggestion after President Roosevelt told his press conference at Hyde Park, N. Y., today that there had been only one controversy at Tuesday night's bipartisan conference on neutrality at the White House.

Hoosevelt said Borah intimated then rather clearly that his private information from Europe was better than that received by the United States Government.

Declining to comment on this,
Borah said:
"I don't propose to enter into any controversy with the President if it can be avoided, but I do think that these bans on White House conferences ought to be lifted when the conference adjourns, so that more than one side can do the talking."

Borah declined to comment on Roosevelt's contention that failure to settle the neutrality question would hurt business, but Senator Johnson (Rep.), California, another opponent of the administration's program, declared: "That's poppycock."

CONFEREES UNABLE TO AGREE ON SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGE

Disputed Amendment Increases the Federal Contribution to Old Age Assistance.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—
Members of the Senate-House committee seeking a compromise on changes in the Social Security law deadlocked yesterday on the Connally amendment to increase the Federal Government's contribution to the old age assistance program.
Some conferees said no agreement was likely this week.

The group agreed, members said, to eliminate from the bill an amendment by Senator Johnson (Dem.), Colorado, that would require State Governments to pay at least $10 monthly old age assistance benefits.
Twenty-eight states now are paying less than that.

They also struck out an amendment by Senator Hayden (Dem.), Arizona, to permit states to exclude from old age assistance Indians who are wards of the Government.

GERMANY PLANS PASSENGER PLANE SERVICE TO U. S.

Six-Motored Craft to Have Cruising Speed of 220 Miles an Hour.

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP).— Germany is preparing to start before next summer a North Atlantic air transport service with a six-motored plane weighing 80,000 to 90-000 pounds.

Subject to the issuance of a landing permit by the United States Government, the plane, accommodating 30 to 40 passengers, will be used on non-stop services between Lisbon, Portugal, and New York, a distance of 3,000 miles. Its cruising speed is expected to be almost 220 miles an hour. The non-refueling range is fixed at 4,375 miles.

Arrested in Another Town, She Tells Police She Thought Boys Were Unhurt.

PUTNAM, Conn., July 21 (AP).—Miss Gray admitted her car hit the boys, but she thought they were unhurt and drove on to Southbridge, Mass., where police arrested her. She said the boys swerved into the path of her car. She was charged with evading responsibility and reckless driving, and released under $1500 bail.

ALDERMAN LEADS BELLEVILLE RAIDS ON SLOT MACHINES

Accompanies Police After Board's Threat to Clean Up Gambling Unless Officers Do.

Members of the Belleville City Council, who told Chief of Police Thomas H. Lonie at a lively meeting last Sunday they would "go out and get slot machines and break them up with an ax" unless his department acted, carried out part of their threat last night by sending Alderman Maurice E. Vale along on a raid in which police seized three of the machines at a night club.

"We're out to get them," Vale explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter afterward. "After all this talk and hubbub Sunday, and after the machines had disappeared for a while, they started coming back. We heard definitely that they had appeared again; so we went out after them."

"This ought to be proof to the operators that we mean business. If they don't act accordingly, there'll be some more parties. Every man in the City Council is after this thing hot and heavy."

Others Wait at Police Station. Six other Aldermen participated indirectly in the raid, which took place after a meeting of the Council, by waiting in Police Headquarters while Vale went out; and the others said they were in sympathy with the move. One of those who missed the raid was Alderman Nicholas C. Mueller, a leader in the demand at Sunday's meeting for stricter enforcement of the gambling laws.

Mueller said he had to leave immediately after the Council meeting but was heartily in accord with what the other members had done. "Absolutely these machines should be cleaned out," he told a reporter. "It's been terrible the way things have been going on."

"We expect the Chief to do his duty with his force, and we're trying to find out why he hasn't been doing it."

Dice Game Raid Plan Changed. It was the original intention of the Aldermen to raid a dice game which has opened only a few blocks from the police station since the council issued its warning Sunday, and another which has operated periodically for some time near the Belleville Courthouse. This plan was changed, however, when the members were unable to secure proper search warrants.

Justice of the Peace X. F. Bertelman, called to the meeting to issue the warrants, found he did not have the proper forms in the brief case he had along, and none could be found in Police Headquarters. It also was learned by the Aldermen that a warrant issued at night had to be signed by two justices instead of just one.

As members of the council were in the police station pondering what to do, Police Capt. Eugene LaFere announced that he had planned to

CARELESS DRIVING CHARGES IN DEATH OF ST. LOUIS BOY

Robert Merriman's Uncle and Other Driver Face Trial in Denver.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. DENVER, July 21.—A charge of careless driving, returnable in Municipal Court July 31, has been placed against George B. Merriman, former resident of Wellston, Mo., whose nephew, Robert Merriman, 14 years old, of St. Louis, was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday. A car driven by the elder Merriman was struck by one operated by Thomas O'Connell, who also was charged with careless driving, for trial at the same time. George Merriman and his sister, Mrs. Joseph Dolezal of Denver, were cut and bruised.

Robert Merriman, an orphan, resided at 5929 Minerva avenue. He shot and killed yesterday by his wife, Emma, as he stepped on the porch of his home at 2210 Carr street. She was quoted by police as saying Harris abused and struck her earlier in the day.

make a slot-machine raid and might as well do this while the warrant question was being gone around by that time, but a punchboard was seized in a tavern at 801 Scheel street.

Vale expressed pleasure at the work of the police department and said he believed "our department is going to act." Lonie was not invited to participate, but Vale said this was because the chief was off duty.

In Madison County, it was said by Chief Deputy Sheriff Ben Wood today that St. Mark's, Catholic Church and the Venice-Madison American Legion Post No. 307 had been ordered to stop awarding cash prizes at weekly lotto games sponsored by the organizations at the Legion Home in Venice. BOYS' PUT ON PRE-NUPRIAL PARTY FOR JUDGE DOUGLAS

State Supreme Court Member Met at Kansas City by Blaring Three-Piece Band.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21 (AP).—A State Supreme Court Judge was just a fussed bridegroom-elect last night as a bunch of the boys whooped it up at a pre-nuptial party for Judge James M. Douglas, 43 years old, who will marry Miss Mary Lumanighi of St. Louis next month.

Judge Douglas peeked out of his train window when a three-piece band blared its welcome at the Union Station, but allowed it as the trio ripped into "In the Good Old Summertime" and headed an impromptu parade up the ramps.

In the Judge's party were Nick Cave of Columbia, chairman of the Missouri Social Security Commission; J. D. James of Joplin, chairman of the State Public Service Commission, and Samuel H. Liberman, member of the St. Louis Police Board.

FLORA (ILL.) OIL OPERATOR MISSING; IS SOUGHT HERE

F. H. Allen Last Seen June 30 in St. Louis Hotel; Usually Carried $500 to $1500.

Police here have been asked to search for F. H. Allen, an oil operator of Flora, Ill., missing since June 30. He was last seen that day in the lobby of the Mayfair Hotel, although he had not been registered at the hotel since June 12.

The Illinois Highway Patrol informed St. Louis police that Allen, 43 years old, usually carried $500 to $1500. His wife in Oklahoma City, Ok., received a letter from him on Mayfair Hotel stationery postmarked 1:30 p. m. July 1.

He was driving a Buick coupe with Illinois license 1-309-119, which is also missing. He is six feet tall, slender and has black hair and a dark complexion.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES UP

Increase From Preceding Week and Same Period in 1938 Reported.

Department store sales in St. Louis last week were 11 per cent more than in the week ending July 8, and 61 per cent more than in the corresponding week of 1938, the Federal Reserve Bank reported today.

The report stated that sales in the four weeks ending July 15 were 6.1 per cent more than those of the corresponding period of last year. Increases for the week ranging up to 14.5 per cent were reported for other cities in the Federal Reserve district.

TWO CONTRACTORS BOOT KANSAS CITY'S WATER LEAK FUNDS

Bookkeeper for Boyle-Pryor Construction Co. Says Employers Received Proceeds of Survey.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21 (AP)—Miss Marguerite J. Murphy, bookkeeper for the Boyle-Pryor Construction Co., testified today that the $236,500 "water-leak survey" by the Rathford Engineering Co. went to John J. Boyle and the late William D. Boyle, contractors.

In a civil suit the city seeks to recover the money. Miss Murphy's testimony was heard at a deposition.

The city has been trying to determine who got the warrants drawn "by the survey. Officers of the Rathford concern pointed to Boyle as the principal organizer and power in the concern.

Miss Murphy said Boyle and Pryor took over many of the city warrants and that Boyle, after Boyle's death from lightning June 3, 1938, became the sole recipient of the cash proceeds.

Opinion on McElroy Funds.

A legal opinion that much of the $2,000,000 which passed through the City Manager's emergency fund during H. F. McElroy's administration as City Manager might be recovered by law suits was announced.

The Legal Committee of the Forward Kansas City Committee said operation of the fund violated city charter provisions and "every payment into and out of the fund was illegal." After weeks of study, the report was made by the committee headed by Paul V. Barnett and suggests a course of action to City Counselor Sam C. Blair.

A promise has been given Kansas City taxpayers by city officials that a report would be made soon on what has been done with the $2,000,000 bond issue fund voted nine years ago for use under a mayor improvement program.

Mayor Bryce B. Smith and City Manager Eugene C. Zachman announced an engineering survey would be made to see what was accomplished. Although it was announced at the start of the bond campaign, surveys would be made from time to time, McElroy neglected to order them, while Boss Tom Pendergast a machine ruled.

Details of a deal arranged by McElroy with the Kansas City Power & Light Co. in order to help pay the city's light bill of about $600,000 a year were disclosed by the company. At McElroy's suggestion, the company from 1932 through 1937 acquired $1,254,442 of tax purchase certificates. In the fiscal year the company bought some of the certificates, and the city still owes it $448,000.

Explanation of Purchases.

City tax purchase certificates are issued against real estate on which taxes are delinquent. Chester C. Smith, power company president, explained its purchases.

"We certainly would rather have had the cash for our bills," he said. "We did not trade our bills for the certificates. We gave him cash. The city paid its light bills after we made the purchases."

The company, Smith said, has collected $336,707 of the face value of the certificates and $118,880 in interest, a total of $455,587. It still holds certificates with a face value of $1,417,735. The interest due on unpaid 1932 certificates amounts to 7 1/2 per cent, computed at 1 per cent a month. It has $10,019 in 1932 certificates.

The county grand jury yesterday subpoenaed all city hall records dealing with public utilities and appropriation ordinances for 1936, 1937 and 1938. Along with these, it is believed, the jury also asked for copies of all city contracts with utility firms.

The first draft of recall petitions requested by the charter party was completed by the City Counselor's office. The party plans to file recall affidavits Aug. 1.

SPAN EXPECTED TO LIFT BAR ON MEXICAN BULLFIGHTERS

Negotiations Under Way Toward Exchange of Toradores Between Countries.

MADRID, July 21 (AP). — A three-year bar on Mexican bullfighters in Spain probably will be lifted soon.

Mexicans were ruled out of Spanish arenas by the Nationalists because Mexico sympathized with the Republican cause in the civil war. Negotiations are progressing satisfactorily now for admitting a limited number of Mexicans on condition that an equal number of Spaniards be permitted to fight in Mexico.

CHILDREN PICKET WOMEN PICKETING BEAUTY PARLOR

Youngsters Carry Signs Reading: "Women Reducing," "Exercise at Any Price."

Three women members of Local 138A, Beauticians' Union, A. F. of L., today picketed the frame bungalow and beauty shop of Miss Eileen Cain, 3111 Louisiana avenue, East St. Louis, carrying umbrellas with signs asserting that Miss Cain was unfair to organized labor.

Disturbed over the picketing, especially so after the woman began to parade over the lawn, Miss Cain called the police but was informed by them that there was no violation of the law. The pickets were cautioned, however, to keep off the lawn.

Then, two supporters of Miss Cain came to her aid. They were in the neighborhood of 12 years old, who walked behind the rather sturdily-dressed "Exercise at any price" for the children.

KANSAS CITY JURY HEARS M'CORMACK ON BRIBERY CASES

Insurance Scandal Go-Between Subpoenaed in Proposal to Prosecute Boss Tom as Accessory.

Alphonsus L. McCormack, confessed go-between in the $400,000 payoff of the Missouri fire insurance rate compromise, whose resignation as president and partner in the Charles L. Crane Agency Co., was announced yesterday, appeared before the Jackson County grand jury today, under subpoena, as a step in a proposal to prosecute Boss Tom Pendergast as an accessory to bribery.

As McCormack waited outside the grand jury room he told reporters he had no comment. He was accompanied by a lawyer, Forrest Hanna, who characterized McCormack's retirement from the agency company as not a sale but a "withdrawal."

The subpoena was issued by the grand jury, as the result of a suggestion by the St. Louis grand jury last week that Pendergast, now serving a prison term for evasion of Federal income taxes, be charged with being an accessory to the bribing of R. Emmet O'Malley, former State Superintendent of Insurance, in the rate compromise. O'Malley also is in prison for evading Federal income taxes, both he and Pendergast having failed to report their shares of the payoff.

McCormack, who was a chief witness against Pendergast and O'Malley, got $25,000 of the payoff money. Pendergast got $315,000 and O'Malley $62,500. The St. Louis grand jury asserted that McCormack was the actual bribe giver, in its report filed when it returned the indictment of O'Malley on the bribe charge. It held that jurisdiction on a charge against Pendergast as an accessory would lie in Jackson County.

Graves' Mind Not Made Up. Prosecuting Attorney W. W. Graves of Jackson County, a Pendergast political lieutenant, who is under indictment on charges of neglect of duty, has told reporters repeatedly that he has not made up his mind what to do about the suggestion for prosecution of Pendergast as an accessory. One of his assistants, Herschel Goodman, has been working with the grand jury. The Crane Agency Co., a general insurance firm with offices in the Pierce Building, announced late

PICTURE OF MARX TAKEN DOWN IN WPA CLASSROOM Likeness of Lincoln Put Up in Philadelphia After Protest by Preacher.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21 (AP).—A picture of Karl Marx in the Italian Progressive Workers' Institute, where a minister charged children in WPA classes were exposed to Communist influences, was supplanted yesterday by one of Abraham Lincoln.

The Rev. Corrado F. Riggio protested against the Marx picture and said posters depicting life and industry in Russia were displayed on the walls where classes are held. Lewis Rohrbach, head of WPA educational and recreational activities in Philadelphia, investigated and said he did not find "anything of a subversive nature, and nothing to get alarmed about."

Weld was elected agency president today and Kraus, treasurer, succeeding McCormack, who had held both offices. Hunthausen was re-elected secretary.

McCormack, a partner for about 15 years, will continue to handle his personal insurance business as a broker at the agency offices for a year, but will not be connected with the company, Weld, spokesman for the partners, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. Weld declined to say whether McCormack resigned voluntarily or by request or to state the price paid for McCormack's interest.

Both Pendergast and O'Malley pleaded guilty to the Federal income tax charges. Their decisions not to stand trial were largely due to the fact the Government had McCormack's testimony in reserve. They entered prison at Leavenworth, Kan., May 29, Pendergast under a 15-month sentence, and O'Malley for a year and a day.

The St. Louis grand jury reported last week that McCormack "testified fully and freely before us and he will be an indispensable witness for the State against O'Malley, as well as against Pendergast, if the latter should be prosecuted, in Jackson County." Accordingly, the grand jury said it took no action against McCormack, who could claim a constitutional right not to testify, if under indictment himself.

Following the fire rate compromise, in 1935, McCormack, who had been vice-president and a director of the Central States Life Insurance Co., with Superintendent O'Malley's backing, was made president of this company on O'Malley's demand. In March, 1938, a few months after Gov. Stark ousted O'Malley from office, McCormack resigned as president and last April, after his part in the payoff became known, he quit as a director. He still is a minority stockholder.

Stark said the entire program of county audits which last year disclosed shortages of about $1,000,000 must be abandoned, with only special audits made in counties where they appear to be needed.

Dismissal of the county auditors—drawing $150 a month each—will cut $4500 off Smith's monthly payroll.

Held for Killing

MAN SOUGHT NEARLY 10 YEARS FOR KILLING RETURNED HERE

Elmer Guy Harvick Brought From Texas in Case of Death of C. C. White at Hotel.

Elmer Guy Harvick, sought for almost 10 years for the killing of Cuthbert C. White in the lobby of the Warwick Hotel, Fifteenth and Locust streets, was returned to St. Louis today from Marlin, Tex., where he had been held for St. Louis police since his arrest last Saturday on an assault charge.

Harvick, who had been traveling with a carnival under the name of Gordon E. King, was brought to St. Louis by Detective Lester Canning and placed in the holdover at Police Headquarters to await action by the grand jury.

Canning told reporters that Harvick admitted on the trip that he shot White, but said he had acted in self-defense. Canning said the prisoner refused to give a complete statement, saying he wanted to talk with a lawyer.

A coroner's verdict of homicide was returned Oct. 21, 1929, the day after the fatal shooting of White, a real estate salesman. Six witnesses at the inquest testified that Harvick, then 24 years old, fired two shots at White after an argument in the hotel lobby.

yesterday that McCormack, who resides at 8001 Park drive, Hampton Park, Richmond Heights, had resigned effective June 30. It was learned today that the nine other partners in the concern, which is not incorporated, had purchased McCormack's interest jointly, but the price was not disclosed.

Remaining partners are Arthur J. Hunthausen, Clark Johnston, Peter L. Kraus, Edwin A. Lips, F. George Macke, T. Dudley Petrie, Edward F. Smith, J. Garneau Weld and Harry M. White.

GOV. LONG DEFENDS NEW ORLEANS MAY

Both Trying to Save Police Machine of Late 'King' From Wreckage.

NEW ORLEANS, July 21 (AP). Gov. Earl K. Long and Mayor S. Maestri of New Orleans united today in an effort to save old Huey Long political machine from wreckage.

Earl Long, brother of the late Huey Long, and Maestri, Long's early financial backer, are two remaining of the four original heirs of the machine. Richard W. Leche, titular chief, resigned, and Seymour Weiss, a times called No. 2 political machine, is under Federal fraud charges.

A Federal grand jury indicted Maestri, New Orleans, and Maestri, New Orleans, today on mail fraud charges, alleging diversion of $14,196 in paid by Louisiana State University on the Bienville Hotel here, chased for a nurse's home Dec. 1936.

Details of Tax Agreement. The indictment said under agreement of sale the Lee C. Hotel Co. was to pay the tax for the year 1936 and the year, then headed by Dr. S. Maestri, was to reimburse it for its share of taxes from the sale.

The National Equipment Co., of which Hart was a prime stockholder, billed the university for the entire taxes of $14,196, this was paid.

The indictment declared the university at no time was "indebted" to the National Equipment Co., in any amount, whatsoever, during a speech in North Louisiana to deny Shreveport and Maestri, Maestri's Administration.

"They branded the fairest of men in the State as crooks," Long said. "He is 100 percent honest. They've decided only way to get Earl Long to ruin Bob Maestri. He's given constructive work as Mayor of Orleans in three years than any else ever gave in 40 years."

Maestri, in New Orleans, said was interested in "a number of ventures" but that all his activities were done legally and honestly. Long, with the backing of Maestri, is a candidate for Governor in January, 1940. Democratic prime Maestri is head of the powerful political organization Huey Long controlled in New Orleans.

GOV. LONG DEFENDS NEW ORLEANS MAYOR

Both Trying to Save Political Machine of Late 'Kingfish' From Wreckage.

NEW ORLEANS, July 21 (AP).—Gov. Earl K. Long and Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans were joined today in an effort to save the old Huey Long political machine from wreckage.

Earl Long, brother of the late "Kingfish," and Maestri, Huey Long's early financial backer, are two remaining of the four principal heirs of the machine. Gov. Richard W. Leche, titular chief, has resigned, and Seymour Weiss, sometimes called No. 2 political man in Louisiana, is under Federal mail fraud charges.

A Federal grand jury indicted Maestri, E. Hart, New Orleans business man, and Dr. James Monroe Smith today on mail fraud charges alleging diversion of $14,196 in taxes paid by Louisiana State University to the Bienville Hotel here, purchased for a nurses' home Dec. 3, 1938.

Details of Tax Agreement.
The indictment said under the agreement of sale the Lee Circle Hotel Co., Inc. was to pay the full tax for the year 1936 and the university was to reimburse it for its proportionate share of taxes from the date of sale.

The National Equipment Co., Inc., of which Hart was a principal stockholder, billed the university for the entire taxes of $14,196, and this was paid.

The indictment declared the university at no time was "indebted to the National Equipment Co., Inc. in any amount whatsoever."

Long yesterday took occasion to deny Shreveport and Monroe newspaper attacks on Maestri.

"They branded the fairest and purest man in the State as an oil crook," Long said. "He is 100 per cent honest. They've decided the only way to get Earl Long is to ruin Bob Maestri. He's given more constructive work as Mayor of New Orleans in three years than anyone else ever gave in 40 years."

Maestri, in New Orleans, said he was interested in "a number of oil ventures" but that all his activities were done legally and honestly.

Long, with the backing of Maestri, is a candidate for Governor in the January, 1940, Democratic primary.

DENY PLANNING TO WED AFTER DIVORCING THEIR MATES

Man, Woman Warned Not to Marry Soon by Judge Granting Plaintiff's Wife a Decree.

The marital difficulties of two pairs were scrutinized by Circuit Judge Frank C. O'Malley today, in a hearing on a divorce cross bill filed by Mrs. Mary De Brunner, 417 North Twentieth street, against her husband, Elmer De Brunner, 4314 DeSoto avenue.

Mrs. De Brunner, in her cross bill, alleged that De Brunner had professed love for Mrs. Lenora M. Hamilton, 4230A Clarence avenue, who has a divorce suit pending against Maurice Hamilton, 3630A Hydraulic avenue. A cross-bill filed by Hamilton alleged Mrs. Hamilton had told him she planned to marry De Brunner after her divorce.

De Brunner and Mrs. Hamilton, called to the stand by Judge O'Malley, denied they had any plans for marriage. After granting the divorce to Mrs. De Brunner, Judge O'Malley admonished De Brunner not to "get married in this term of court, or the divorce might be set aside."

Custody of a 2-year-old son and $3 a week for his support also were awarded to Mrs. De Brunner. The De Brunners were married in 1935 and separated last Jan. 14. The Hamiltons were married in 1933, and also separated Jan. 14.

DRY GOVERNOR QUILTS LIQUOR CONTROVERSY

'All Hashed Over,' Says Dickinson, Who Then Twits Man Who Proposed Recall.

LANSING, Mich., July 21 (AP).—The "high life" liquor-drinking at the recent National Conference of Governors is "a closed incident" as far as he is concerned, Gov. Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan said today.

The 80-year-old dry leader, whose warning that young girls were endangered at social affairs such as those held in connection with the conference, stirred up a storm of criticism, added:

"The whole thing has been hashed over and I will say nothing more. It's dropped; that's all."

Dickinson, however, revived another controversy—that engendered by the attempt of John B. Corliss Jr. of Detroit to obtain recall of the Governor. Corliss, a Republican, as is Dickinson, yesterday abandoned his effort at the same time Michigan's Attorney-General gave his opinion that the recall petitions were invalid.

The Governor Writes a Letter.
"Your letter stating that you were not going to recall me came in the nick of time. I was getting ready to pack up and go back to the farm, but the employees were not so happy. They saw their jobs going and they were losing sleep. But when your letter came, you should have seen them clap their hands. Judge Boyles (Emerson R. Boyles, the Governor's gray-haired legal adviser) with a tunebook in his left hand—you know the Judge is left-handed—embled them under the chandelier and how they did sing 'Praise the Lord (Johnny) from whom all blessings flow.'"

"Your Pleading Usurpation."
Corliss in his letter had told the Governor he objected to "your preaching upon domestic sins, your moralizing opinions and your parental usurpation of the right to direct the people in the way of righteousness according to your own belief."

Gov. Dickinson said last night he had no "thought of criticizing" Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in a radio broadcast when he quoted her on the temperate use of liquor by young women.

EAST SIDE ROBBERY SUSPECT HELD UNDER $25,000 BOND

Man Who Changed Plea After Sentence for Attack, Accused of Beating Man, Taking $345.

George Ladas, a clerk, 340 Brady avenue, East St. Louis, was held in default of $25,000 bond at Belleville today in connection with the robbery Monday night of Dumas Scholes, East St. Louis switchman. A warrant charging him with armed robbery was issued yesterday.

Scholes, who lives at 445A Collinsville avenue, reported to police he had been beaten and robbed of $345 near Monsanto by two men, with one of whom he had been drinking in East St. Louis. He is in Veterans' Hospital at Jefferson Barracks, suffering from a fractured jaw and head injuries.

Ladas, whose father operates a tavern in the "Valley" area, was arrested Wednesday after a taxi driver told police he had seen him drinking with Scholes Monday night. Ladas was sentenced last October to 25 years in Chester Penitentiary, on his plea of guilty to criminal assault on a 17-year-old girl. He was released after a few months on his demand for a trial, as he said he had been promised a three-year term if he would plead guilty. He changed his plea, and is awaiting trial.

ILLINOIS OIL TO BE PIPED TO NEW JERSEY REFINERY

Temporary Arrangement to Continue Until Other Midwest Oil-lets for Cretan Can Be Found.

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP).—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey next week will begin bringing 2000 barrels of Illinois crude oil daily into its Bayway (N. J.) refinery by pipe line, it was learned today.

The oil is being brought East, executives said, to lessen the pressure of surplus production in Illinois. It was explained that the move was a "temporary arrangement to be continued until executives can find other outlets for the oil in the Midwest."

There is no production in Illinois, and production there recently has been running around 76,000 barrels daily in excess of oil needs of the area.

The crude to come from Illinois will be the first brought here from that State by Standard Oil of New Jersey in some years, it was said.

The Illinois crude is being taken from a Standard Oil subsidiary, Carter Oil Co., which has offices in Tulsa, Ok., and operates in Oklahoma, Kansas and Illinois. The oil will move east over the Illinois Pipe, Southwestern Pennsylvania Pipe, Eureka Pipe, Southern Pipe, National Pipe and Tascara Pipe Lines.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21 (AP).—A 16x22-inch glass-covered picture of Gov. Lloyd C. Stark was found damaged on the floor of the office occupied by Recorder John P. Sherrod in the Jackson County Courthouse today. It had been torn from the wall.

Fred Canfil, director of county buildings, said the act had been committed by vandals. Sherrod was appointed to his post by Stark last winter.

CHILDREN LOST OVERNIGHT FOUND IN MOVIE THEATER

Boy and Girl Went to Sleep and Were Locked in, Just as Their Mother Thought.

Two lost children in Lemay were found early today, just where their upset mother insisted they would be found—locked inside a theater where they went to sleep last night.

Deputy Sheriff Jacob Pfeiffer had a call shortly before 4 a. m. from Mrs. Cynthia Courtois, 148 West Etta avenue, who said that her children, Judy Coleay, 8 years old, and Douglas Berger, 6, had not returned home since leaving for the Southway Theater, 9736 South Broadway. Pfeiffer said she was so excited she failed to give her name at the time.

Pfeiffer got in touch with Leo Lau, the manager, who insisted it would be impossible for anyone to be left in the theater after the doors were closed for the night. He agreed to get up, however, and make a search.

The children were standing inside crying, when the manager opened the door. They said they had fallen asleep and when they awakened "everything was dark and we couldn't get out."

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS TO CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS

150 Workers to Do Soliciting in Preparation for City Government Institute.

The League of Women Voters of St. Louis will open a membership campaign Monday at Bishop Tuttle Memorial, in preparation for the city government institute it will hold Sept. 11, 12 and 13.

More than 150 workers, headed by Mrs. George Gellhorn, Mrs. G. A. Hope and Mrs. Ralph W. Thayer, will solicit members to attend the institute, which will commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the adoption of the City Charter of St. Louis.

Speakers at the opening meeting at 10:30 a. m. Monday will include William L. Mason, president of the Board of Aldermen; Louis Nolte, comptroller; Miss Jeanne Blythe, president of the City League, and Mrs. J. Hardin Smith Jr., president of the State League.

Appleton, 30 years old, was known to police as a thief, and had no reputation as a bomber. He lived at 3905A Kossuth avenue with his wife, Edna Mae, who reported to police he had been missing two days. No one has been found who saw him after the evening of Oct. 23.

The remark about "an easy $250" was made by Appleton to Gid Smith, with whom he was painting steel construction, on the Friday before his body was found, Smith later told police. The remark followed a conversation Appleton had with a man known to Smith only as "Bill," who called at the job.

Appleton did not explain to Smith by what means he was to get the $250. The painting boss, Frank Rucker, did not let Appleton off early. Police, checking Appleton's movements, learned that from work he went to a North St. Louis saloon, which he left about 6:30 p. m. He was not seen alive after that.

AND SIDE-BY-SIDE TEST WINS THOUSANDS DAILY TO HYDE PARK TRUE LAGER BEER!

AGED FOR MONTHS

● A beer has to be good—in St. Louis! And good old Hyde Park has been right there—in front since 1876! Why? Because its old-time lager formula, carried out in the old-fashioned, "slow-poke" way, brings forth that smooth, mellow "goodness" everybody wants in beer. Hyde Park "goodness" is assured by slow months of aging in cool lagering cellars. And then it is 100% krausened—which means that it is not in any way mechanically carbonated! Hyde Park is "sueffig"—the highest tribute any brewmaster can pay to any beer. Try Hyde Park NOW! You can get it on draft, in bottles, in 6-bottle bags and full-sized cases.

EX-SHERIFF GIVES CLEW IN POWER LINE MURDER MYSTERY

death Oct. 28, 1936, at the base of a Union Electric tower near Florissant under circumstances which led police to believe he had been murdered by someone in whom he had confidence. There was no evidence of a struggle. Appleton was lying on his back. He had been shot four times in the right side of the head and on the ground nearby were several discharged cartridges from an automatic pistol.

Beside Appleton's left hand were eight sticks of dynamite, taped as a bomb and equipped with seven feet of fuse and a percussion cap. A newspaper was on the ground besides the dead man's knees, causing police to surmise that he was kneeling on it, preparing to place the bomb, when he was shot. A significant circumstance was the fact that no matches were found in Appleton's clothing, or on the ground near the body. Without matches he could not have lit the bomb fuse.

The body was found after Detective-Sergeant Thomas Hale, who had been member of the police bombing squad, received a telephone message at his home from an anonymous caller directing him to go to the tower "and find the man who has been blowing up power lines." When Sgt. Hale asked for the name of the caller he was told: "Never mind, let me do the talking."

COCHRAN ASSAILS SABATH'S ATTACK ON GEN. AMERICAN

Puts Into Record Life Insurance Company Officers' Denial of Illinoisan's Charges.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Building. WASHINGTON, July 21.—Representative John J. Cochran of St. Louis inserted in today's Congressional Record portions of a telegram he received yesterday from Powell B. McHaney, St. Louis attorney, denying charges made against McHaney, Walter W. Head and David M. Milton in a speech by Representative Adolph Sabath of Chicago, regarding the acquisition of assets of the defunct Missouri State Life Insurance Co. by the General American Life Insurance Co.

This week Sabath, as chairman of the select House Committee on Bondholders' Reorganization, attempted unsuccessfully to file a "final report" of the committee despite the fact the committee's existence automatically expired Jan. 3. Denied the privilege of filing the "report," Sabath inserted in the Congressional Record as part of his speech the conclusions of the committee's investigator regarding the Missouri State Life-General American deal.

Cochran's Remarks.

Cochran pointed out in the record that Sabath had released the "report" to the press, although three members of the expired committee, Representatives Kennedy of New York, Dirksen of Illinois and Calkins of New York, had refused to approve it.

The St. Louis Congressman said it had been charged that a former employee of the Sabath committee had sold the contents of the "report" to a reporter, who had sold a series of articles to a Chicago newspaper.

"An investigator of this committee by the name of Crume," Cochran said, "voluntarily submitted a memorandum (on the Missouri State Life deal) to the Governor of Missouri. The information he gave the Governor was alleged to have come from the confidential report of this select committee of the House of Representatives."

"The Chamber of Commerce of the city of St. Louis employed Charles Williams and Charles Polk, two of our leading lawyers, one a Democrat, the other a Republican. After a very lengthy investigation, they made a voluminous report and cleared the officials of the charges in the Crume memorial. That report is open to inspection and was given wide publicity. What right did anyone have to sell or make public information contained in a confidential report of a committee of this House?"

Newspaper Articles.

It is charged a former employee of this committee sold to a reporter in Chicago, who in turn sold a series of articles to a Chicago newspaper, and attempted to sell them to other newspapers, the contents of the report in question.

"I do not charge the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Sabath) with knowing anything about this at the time—in fact, I know he would never have approved it, but on the contrary I am sure he would have denounced such practices."

"I recall at one time calling to the attention of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Sabath) certain letters which clearly indicated an employee of the committee attempted to perpetrate a blackmailing scheme against certain insurance companies. When I showed him photostatic copies of letters written by this employee he immediately discharged him by telegraph. That man later was indicted by a federal Grand Jury in Springfield, Ill. He died while under indictment. I therefore will not mention his name."

McHaney's Telegram.

McHaney's telegram said: "Although Congressman Sabath was not successful in filing his report which he chose to call the final report of the so-called Sabath Committee, I understand that despite your efforts and the efforts of members of such committee, Sabath did succeed in getting certain libelous statements relative to the General American Life Insurance Co., its officers and myself in the Congressional Record of yesterday."

"There is not to be found in the official transcript of the evidence adduced before such committee pertaining to the above company or its officers, a scintilla of evidence justifying the statements made by Congressman Sabath yesterday."

McHaney went on to say that apparently the statements were made in the Congressional Record to "cover up" certain newspapers who recently carried stories about the alleged final report. He declared that the committee did not make the findings reported.

He said he never made any statement indicating that the purchase of the assets of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co. by the General American was invalid or improper, and asserted the courts had upheld that contract. He added that a study of the record of the proceedings before the committee would "prove the falsity of Sabath's charges."

BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD—These Brownies Really Won Pennants

Here's the team that brought the first baseball pennant (American Association) to St. Louis in 1885, under the ownership of Chris von der Ahe and the leadership of Charley Comiskey, who will be impersonated in the Centennial Celebration at Sportsman's Park tomorrow. With few changes of personnel this outfit won four successive pennants. They won one world championship and tied another. Back row, left to right, Doc Bushong, catcher; Curt Welch, center field; Sam Barclay, substitute second base; Dave Foutz, pitcher; Tip O'Neill, left field; Billy Gleason, shortstop. Front row, Yank Robinson, second base; Arlie Latham, third base; Bob Caruthers, pitcher; George McGinnis, pitcher; William Sullivan, substitute catcher; Hughey Nicol, right field. Captain Comiskey, who played first base, is not in the picture.

LABOR ACT CHANGE MEANS FIGHT, CIO MAN WARNS HOUSE

Steel Workers Have Freedom at Last and Will Struggle to Keep It, He Tells Committee.

'YES, WE'LL STRIKE; WE WON'T GIVE IT UP'

Sub-Regional Director Says Unions Oppose Letting Employers Petition for Plant Elections.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—A representative of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee told Congress today that if the Wagner Labor Relations Act is amended, "We'll give you a fight."

Appearing before the House Labor Committee, Philip Clowes, sub-regional director of the S. W. O. S. in Allegheny County, Pa., testified the Wagner Act had made steel workers "living, breathing, personalities and not just cogs in a machine."

"We have freedom now and we'll fight to keep it," he said.

Representative Barton (Rep., N. Y.), asked Clowes whom he represented.

"Steel workers," he replied.

"And don't you believe that the representatives in Congress will legislate in the interests of the people of the country?" asked Barton.

"We'll give you a fight," Clowes shouted.

"You'll strike," he said.

"Yes, we'll strike. Now we have industrial peace and freedom and we won't give it up."

Asked by Heinke (Rep., N. Y.), whether he would object to an amendment permitting employers to petition for an election, Clowes replied:

"What does an employer want with an election? I know more about this than you men around the table. The employer wants an election to destroy the union. He can have the kind of labor relations he wants and if he wants a fight he'll get it."

Clowes said that if employers succeed in "destroying industrial unions, they'll go to work on craft unions and would have a much easier time of it."

Attack on Green.

Another witness, Bert Hough, chairman of the Industrial Union Council at Beaver, Pa., told the committee "every labor-hating agency in the country is in collusion with William Green," president of the A. F. of L.

"Discard Green and his blatherings about the Wagner Act," said Hough. "Discard the good intentions of uninformed crackpots who don't understand the act."

With a critic of the Wagner Act as its probable chairman, a special committee of five House members will begin a far-reaching investigation into activities of the National Labor Relations Board shortly after Congress adjourns.

Inquiry Voted 254-134.

The investigation was ordered yesterday by a House vote of 254 to 134. An almost solid Republican delegation joined a sizeable Democratic bloc in overriding pleas of Labor Committee members to await consideration of Wagner Act amendments.

If House precedent is followed, the investigating group will be headed by Representative Smith (Dem., Va.), who sponsored the resolution and who voted against the Wagner Act. Speaker Bankhead will appoint the committee members.

The committee will have full subpoena powers. The House directed it to find out whether the Labor Board has been fair in its interpretation of the general effects of the law on employer-employee relations.

The committee also will have the right to suggest amendments to the Wagner Act and recommend changes in the personnel of the Labor Board.

There were other developments on the labor scene while the House was putting through the resolution. Chairman Thomas (Dem., Va.) of the Senate Labor Committee proposed that a single "umpire" or "referee" be empowered to settle the dispute between the CIO and the A. F. of L. The referee, he said, will have powers akin to those of Will Hays in the motion picture industry.

Labor itself or "interested parties" should select this man, Thomas added, in an effort to "keep it out of the Government."

The La Follette Civil Liberties Committee recommended to Thomas enactment of a bill to outlaw labor spies and use of tear gas and munitions in labor disputes.

Next Lions' Convention in Havana.

PITTSBURGH, July 21 (AP).—The Lions Club convention today selected Havana, Cuba, for the 1940 international convention. Members chosen for the board of directors included L. B. Morris of Louisville, Ill.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES G. ROSS

The Senate Hands Mr. Roosevelt a Simple and Easily Understandable Issue—Should the United States Aid the Dictators by Keeping Arms Embargo?

WASHINGTON, July 21. DEEPLY regrettable though it is that Congress will adjourn in a couple of weeks without having passed the mandatory arms embargo from the statute books, the debate over neutrality has at least had the good effect of clarifying the issue for the "man in the street." The gain is far from enough to compensate for the encouragement given the aggressor nations by the retention of the embargo, but it is something to be grateful for in a depressing situation.

Thanks to the recent discussion, the issue has been stripped down to its essentials. It is simply whether the United States, in the event of a general European war, wants to aid the aggressor Powers—and nobody thinks of them as other than Germany and Italy—or throw its economic strength on the side of France and England.

Whatever the United States does, or omits to do, in its relations with a warring Europe, it is bound to help one side or the other. It can never so isolate itself that its acts will have no bearing on the outcome of a general war. This is the inescapable fact that the debate over the administration's anti-embargo proposals has made clear.

From the point of view of those who think the embargo should be repealed, it is fortunate that the issue is so clear and understandable. In this respect President Roosevelt will be in far better case should he elect to take the issue "to the country" than was Woodrow Wilson in the last great popular battle over our foreign relations.

At the outset Wilson seemed to have the winning side. There was tremendous appeal in the idea of the nations of the world acting in concert to prevent war. Gradually, however, the opponents of the League of Nations broke down the support with which Wilson started. In part, they were able to do this because of the complexities in connection with the subject. Gradually the complexity of his subject found himself involved. It was impossible for him to simplify his cause. Questions relating to the obligations of the United States under Article X, to the mandated territories, to the League of Nations, to the United States in the League—these and many others arose to becloud the central issue. The slogan that finally got home to the people and decided the issue was the simple "keep out of foreign entanglements" of the opposition.

In the present contest with the isolationists, Mr. Roosevelt has not only a good cause, but one that can be simply and forcibly presented to the people.

SHOE INDUSTRY PAY MINIMUM TO BE STUDIED BY COMMITTEE

Labor Department Officials to Give Body Statistics on Wages and Hours.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—A Wage-Hour Industrial Committee will meet here on Aug. 1 to study the wage structure of the shoe industry as one step toward determining a minimum wage for shoe workers.

Mr. Francis J. Haas of Washington, chairman of the committee, announced today that officials of the Labor Department would give the committee statistics on workers' earnings and hours of work.

The committee is authorized under the Wage-Hour Law to recommend a minimum wage between 25 and 40 cents an hour.

RAIL-WATER TRANSPORTATION BILL BEFORE HOUSE TODAY

Rules Committee Decides on 6-Hour Debate on Measure for Uniform Regulation.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—The House Rules Committee granted legislative right-of-way yesterday to a bill designed to provide uniform regulation for rail and waterway transportation.

The measure will come up in the House today for six hours of general debate.

Opposition was expressed by some committee members to a section that would put certain water carriers under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the House leaders insisted on consideration of the bill.

INVENTOR OF BIOGRAPH DIES

Herman Casler Made Forerunner of Modern Movie Projector.

CANASTOTA, N. Y., July 21 (AP).—Herman Casler, 72 years old, who invented the Biograph, forerunner of the modern motion picture projector, died last night after a short illness.

Casler achieved national fame when his invention received its first public showing at the old Hammerstein vaudeville house in New York City Oct. 11, 1896. Formation of the American Mutoscope & Biograph Co. followed.

LENDING PROGRAM CUT $310,000,000 BY SENATE GROUP

Committee Slices $400,000,000 Off Roads and Rail Items, Adds $90,000,000 for Reclamation.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—The Senate Banking Committee trimmed $400,000,000 from President Roosevelt's $2,800,000,000 lending program today and then added $90,000,000 for reclamation projects in the West.

Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio), voicing the views of minority committee members, told reporters Republicans still were "not satisfied" and would seek further curtailment of the measure.

The committee agreed to cut from $750,000,000 to $500,000,000 proposed authorization for toll roads and from $500,000,000 to $350,000,000 the total which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could expend for railroad equipment to be leased to the carriers.

House Hears Jesse Jones.

While the Senate committee was busy with details of the legislation, Jesse Jones, new Federal Loan Administrator, told the House Banking Committee that any inference drawn from previous testimony by him, and current in some congressional circles, that the lending legislation was unnecessary was "of course ridiculous."

Jones was reported authoritatively to have told the Senate committee yesterday that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could finance the program for two years with its present borrowing authority but that some amendments to existing law would be necessary to carry out such lending proposals as construction of toll roads and leasing of equipment to railroads.

Today he told the House committee that the $1,361,000,000 still available to the RFC for loans of all types "can't and won't" take care of the proposed new program. He said the RFC did not have adequate authority to make the types of loans contemplated.

"We have always felt," Jones said, "that we ought not to get our borrowing authority for general purposes below one billion dollars."

He explained that, under existing law, the RFC could not purchase railroad equipment for lease to the carriers.

Change in Bond Terms.

The Senate committee's action effected a net reduction of $310,000,000 in the lending program. In addition, the banking group amended the bill to cut from 40 to 30 years the term of bonds which the RFC would issue to raise funds for the program.

It also approved a change to make clear that the rural electrification lending program would aggregate only $600,000,000. That sum was proposed in the lending program, but Senator Taft said the REA previously had obtained a $280,000,000 program. Taft said the revision made certain that the $600,000,000 would not be in addition to the already-approved $280,000,000.

Majority Leader Barkley (Dem., Kentucky), author of the lending bill, said the changes in language might make it necessary to draft an entirely new measure. He said he was hopeful the bill would go to the Senate floor next Tuesday.

"It is not impossible that the bill could be finally approved next week from the speech of the middle ages. It still is painted on shops in Austrian villages."

DIETITIANS' "ANGELS ON HORSEBACK" ON IDEAL PICNIC MENU

Cheese and Bacon Combination More Digestible Than Hot Dogs.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt may continue to feature hot dogs at his Hyde Park picnics, but his home State's College of Home Economics recommends "angels on horseback."

Diet specialists made "angels on horseback" the main attraction on an ideal picnic menu demonstration climaxed this week's State nutrition conference at the college.

To make an "angel," it was explained, one takes a cube of cheese at least one and one-quarter inches square, wraps it in bacon, skewers it with a toothpick and toasts it on a fork until "the cheese is nice and gooey, smells to heaven and the picknickers' tongues hang out."

An "angel" may be eaten with a fork, in a sliced roll or simply held in the fingers.

The dietitians says the "angels" are a bit more digestible than the hot dogs which enjoyed a brief place in the international spotlight when the President served them to King George and Queen Elizabeth of England last month.

"We call them 'angels' because they 'go so fast,'" a home economics spokesman said.

With the exception of the main course, the model picnic menu reads much like one used by average American families on outings. It includes, besides "angels," rolls, butter, coffee, pickles, a salad (lettuce, tomatoes and onions), melon and cookies.

Lending plan would aggregate only $770,000,000, and Jones was said to have declared that the RFC could finance those advances and meet all its other commitments.

He added, committee members asserted, that repayments to the RFC during the first year would make it possible to finance the lending program for a second 12 months.

Senator McNary (Rep., Oregon), the minority leader, told reporters that Republicans "believe Federal agencies now in existence can take care of the items contained in the lending bill, and there is no need for further authorization of Parliament today attacked a measure under which the 44-hour working week for children of 14 to 16 years old might be extended to 48 hours.

Laborite George Tomlinson opened debate in the House of Commons on the proposal with a story of how, at 11, he had to work in a cotton mill for about 55 cents a week.

"The red flag would not have been red enough for me," Lady Astor cried, "had I been in the honorable member's position."

She said one of her children going into a factory at the age of 11. Young people under 16 should not be worked more than 44 hours a week.

Plan for Putting Peasants On Large Sicilian Estates

Mussolini Proposes to Spend $100,000,000 to Build Houses and Make Other Improvements for Farmers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ROME, July 21.—A $100,000,000 plan to put peasant farmers on 1,236,000 acres of large estates in Sicily was announced by Premier Mussolini yesterday in the most extensive land reclamation scheme the Fascist Government has undertaken since the Pontine marshes near Rome were cleared.

The project envisages a revolution in Sicilian ways of life through the public and private efforts, coordinated by Government agencies, to build over a period of 10 years 20,000 rural houses, lay out roads, provide a water supply, double the agricultural productivity of the land and establish the peasant on the land he works.

The large estates will remain in the hands of the present owners, but the owners will be compelled to co-operate in the projects. On many of the estates most of the land is devoted to grazing. Peasants live in crowded, insanitary villages and often six or eight miles from the land they work.

Two thousand houses are to be begun in October, on the eighteenth anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome. An initial fund of $50,000,000 has been assigned for the work, of which $20,000,000 will be used for public works and $30,000,000 for reimbursing private expenditures on the project. At least as much more money is expected to be needed before the plan is completed.

The first problem, lack of water, will be met by building aqueducts, digging wells and adopting the ancient Roman system of conserving rain water in cisterns. At present, much of the rainfall during the wet months turns quickly to the coast, where it creates malarial marshes.

A vast system of secondary roads to link the new farms with each other and with local markets will be built. New villages will be built at convenient centers and diversification of crops introduced in place of the present system, which relies on either grazing or wheat and beans. An effort will be made to end reliance on a single crop, failure of which in the past has caused much suffering.

The project also contemplates breaking a Sicilian tradition—no doubt a result of long domination of the island by the Saracens in the Middle Ages—that the woman does not work on the land. The farmer's wife in the future will have to do her share, like her sisters in the rest of Italy.

PROFESSOR ATTACKS INCOME TAX THEORY

Princeton Man Says Whole System Is Based on Fantastic Reasoning.

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 21 (AP).—The Stanford Business Conference today heard a challenge by Harley L. Lutz, Princeton University professor of public finance, of ideas long accepted as the basis of the income tax.

Prof. Lutz questioned whether there is any basis for the assumption that taxes should be levied in accordance with ability to pay; whether any adequate measure, or even concept, of such ability has been devised; and whether Government service is anything essentially different from other services for which the charge to the rich is no greater than to the poor.

He asserted the so-called income tax actually is not a levy on income, nor on profit, nor on net income, but that it is a misnomer. The whole system, he said, is based on romantic, fantastic, unrealistic reasoning.

He added: "An increasing tax-consciousness will demand more efficient Government and the best way to obtain reduction in the cost of government is to organize pressure groups for that purpose. Much of the increased spending of recent years was brought about in just that way. A new realistic orientation of tax philosophy is needed to resist what he called the steady impoverishment of the 'haves' for the temporary advantage of the 'have-nots.'"

Dr. Isaiah L. Sharfman of the University of Michigan told the conference railroads must reorganize and co-ordinate their systems of the Government will have to do it by force. While the main problem of the railroads is one of traffic, he continued, and they could ride out of most of their troubles should business recover. They are in critical condition and will get worse if business does not recover materially.

"There is very little likelihood the railroads will voluntarily work out any plan of consolidation acceptable to the Interstate Commerce Commission."

"The Government can take over the roads. That may be unavoidable but unpopular. It would raise additional difficulties. For one, the roads, under Government operation, might find other carriers taking the business away from them, just as those carriers have been doing for years, and to meet that situation the Government might impose restrictions on competing carriers and stop technological progress."

LADY ASTOR FIGHTS EXTENSION OF CHILDREN'S WORKING WEEK

Tells Commons That Persons Under 16 Should Not Be on Duty More Than 44 Hours.

LONDON, July 21 (AP).—Lady Astor, Virginia-born member of Parliament, today attacked a measure under which the 44-hour working week for children of 14 to 16 years old might be extended to 48 hours.

Laborite George Tomlinson opened debate in the House of Commons on the proposal with a story of how, at 11, he had to work in a cotton mill for about 55 cents a week.

"The red flag would not have been red enough for me," Lady Astor cried, "had I been in the honorable member's position."

LEHMAN NAMES T. D. THACHER TO HEAR CASE AGAINST JUDGE

Former U. S. Solicitor-General to Sit at Inquiry Into G. W. Martin's Conduct.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 21 (AP).—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman designated Thomas D. Thacher of New York City, a Republican and former United States Solicitor-General, today to hold hearings on charges of professional and judicial misconduct by Kings County Judge George W. Martin.

The charges, the Democratic Governor said, were drafted by an extraordinary grand jury which has been investigating law enforcement in Brooklyn and presented by John Harlan Amen, special prosecutor appointed by Lehman.

Judge Martin was acquitted June 3 of charges of accepting a $1000 bribe two years ago to dismiss an indictment charging abortion against Dr. Louis I. Duke, Brooklyn physician, and three nurses.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Consistency Toward the Refugees.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
LESS than a year ago, a Polish Jew in Paris murdered the third assistant to the German Ambassador in France. There ensued a reign of terror against the Jews that made the world shudder at its brutality. At least, I like to believe that the world shuddered. International comment was widely unfavorable against the atrocities committed, not excepting comment in the United States. Events now indicate that much of this was merely lip service, not to be taken seriously.
I hold no special brief for the Jews, but I do hold a brief for humanity. And so, when I read that there are now four shiploads of diseased and despairing Jewish refugees cruising the Mediterranean seeking a place to land, I feel that the civilized people of the world are not quite so holy as they would have it appear at the time Germany started her persecutions.
Even England, which was loud in its exclamations against Germany, will not permit these refugees to land in Palestine. Turkey fed them and put them back to sea again. People without a country, they are wandering over the face of the globe, sue mainly to quotas established by silly immigration laws.
What is to be done about this? Did we, who claim to be a magnanimous people, who were loud in our protests at the time Germany started its reign of terror, offer a haven to the shipload that was turned away from Cuba some time ago? Consistency, then, is a jewel, among nations as among men.

A Conjecture on Europe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
ONE guess is as good as another, but might not Germany have assumed Russia she is safe from attack in the West, leaving Russia free to operate against Japan, and in return received assurances that there would be no alliance with France and England?
Has not England more at stake in Asia than in Eastern Europe? Isn't possible that she is merely going through the motions of forming an alliance to placate France, the real orphan of Europe? And isn't Poland merely a pawn?
Finally, shouldn't our own diplomats keep their fingers out of somebody else's pie?

A Program for Utopia.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE only way that business can be revived, purchasing power restored to the masses and prosperity assured is to give the monetary system back to Congress, establish a six-hour working day, absorb all the able unemployed by private industry at an annual minimum wage scale and fix adequate unemployment and old-age pensions of at least $50 to $100 a month.
Then see to it that there is rigid enforcement of the anti-trust laws, impose a high tariff on all cheap, inferior imports, bring about state ownership of all munition plants and end exploitation of natural resources.
Excess profit-taking should be discouraged by boycott, direct graduated income tax should be established, and an amendment should be added to the Constitution forbidding any employee of any large corporation to hold public office.
All crime should then be eliminated by strict enforcement of our laws by honest officials to obtain an honest government for, and by the people as a whole.
This program would create prosperity for all and insure its continuance in the future.

BACK TO MISSOURI, GOV. STARK.

We speak for the poor of St. Louis. We are talking to Gov. Stark. The plight of our poor is desperate. It is wholly unnecessary. It is, therefore, indefensible. The money to meet the cruelly urgent needs is available. Much of that money has come from the people of St. Louis, from the poor as well as the rich. The sales tax is no respecter of persons. It is no respecter of pocketbooks. Thin purse or fat purse, it takes its toll.
Everyone knows where the responsibility for this avoidable and critical situation rests. It rests on the Legislature, which stubbornly and stupidly refused to do its plain, humane duty.
But the question of responsibility is not now before the house. We are now concerned with the remedy—vital and imperatively concerned. The remedy is in Gov. Stark's hands. The obligation is his, too.

What can the Governor do? On his return to Missouri, he can immediately instruct the State Social Security Commission to apportion to St. Louis the funds required to meet this city's relief needs. Admittedly, this is emergency treatment. But the emergency is here. It is pressing. It must be met. And before the funds of the Social-Security Commission are exhausted, the Governor must call the Legislature in special session to do the honorable duty it dishonorably neglected to do in regular session.

Because of a rapacious lobby and a delinquent Legislature, Missouri is playing a grotesque Lord Bountiful to the public school system. It goes without saying that every thoughtful citizen wants the public schools generously cared for. But the State has gone far beyond generosity. It has galloped into a prodigality incredible if it were not true.

Our schools now receive one-third of the entire State revenue, though the Constitution fixes the minimum at one-fourth. What does that mean? It means that for the current biennium the schools are receiving $28,000,000, a sum riotously out of proportion in any circumstances, and criminally unfair in our present distressful conditions.

Six years ago, in 1933, the schools got $3,000,000. This leap to the fantastic affluence of '39 just does not make sense. And where does the princely treasure come from? Mostly it comes from the sales tax—the drip, drip, drip of the pennies of the poor.

A proposal to reduce the schools' apportionment to 30 per cent, which is 5 per cent above the Constitution's mandatory figure, was defeated in the Legislature. Again, a plan urged by the Governor to take the State university allowance—$3,740,000—from the school funds was beaten. The school lobby demanded, not the pound of flesh, but the whole carcass, and got it from the Legislature.

Last year St. Louis paid to the State, in sales taxes, $5,684,156. The city received from the State for relief and other purposes (schools, old-age pensions, care of insane, direct relief and dependent children) the sum of $3,357,866.

St. Louis today has 22,037 persons on relief. Almost half of them are children. Most of the others are unemployables. Their allotment is now $3.31 per month for food. For all these thousands, there is available only $2500 for rent, $3800 for medicine and clinics, nothing for clothing, nothing for electricity, nothing for gas.

To call such a pittance relief is an affront to intelligence, an insult to conscience, a challenge to every man with any pretense of decency.
The poor of St. Louis are condemned to starvation rations, while a school lobby wallows in wealth and the "Dear Pensioners" of our politicians multiply and vote.
Come back to Missouri, Gov. Stark.

DRAMA STANDARDS AT THE ZOO.

In a less sophisticated day, monkeys were a popular attraction for themselves alone. Nowadays, at the St. Louis Zoo, they have to show some talent or get off the payroll. The Zoo's histrionic standards are high, and a chimpanzee christened Ellis simply hasn't been able to meet them. His performance in the trained chimp act wasn't considered even adequate by the drama critics; they called it downright amateurish. So Ellis is sold to a traveling carnival, to tread the boards on the kerosene circuit, and a rising young simian actor named Sallor, one of Frank Buck's proteges, is to get a try-out for stardom.

That's the way it is in the fascinating make-believe world of the theater. Many a budding Hamlet has failed to make the grade, and finds himself reduced to an offstage noise. Sallor's ambition is about to be realized, while poor old Ellis is out of luck—unless his agent can interest a Hollywood talent scout in attending the carnival.

ANOTHER JOB FOR LEE BAKER.

There will be general satisfaction, we believe, over Lee Baker's "second chance" at a city job. His announced vacation from his post at Homer G. Phillips Hospital, which Mayor Dickmann found for him, did him no good in the community, and yet the city's obligation to him stands despite that impulsive holiday. We must not forget how recently it was that Baker, notwithstanding an assault which almost cost him his life, took the witness stand to convict Isadore Londe of the murderous crime of bombing. Lee Baker did his share. If the Missouri law regulating bail for habitual criminals was what it should be, the gangster-ex-convict would not now be at large.

MURPHY INDORSES THE LA FOLLETTE COMMITTEE.

The idea has grown in Congress and over the country that the La Follette committee may as well be discontinued, now that a special civil liberties unit has been set up in the Department of Justice by Attorney-General Murphy. With both at work, there would be duplication, it is asserted, and the Justice Department should be given full charge of the field.
These arguments are demolished by Attorney-General Murphy, who went on record yesterday as favoring continuance of the committee. He praised its "great educational value," asserted there was no conflict between the two groups and declared the committee's co-operation would be very valuable to his department and other agencies.

The public hearings held by the committee have been highly useful in exposing bad conditions and correcting them. The Department of Justice, on the other hand, makes its reports to grand juries in secret session, and so is restricted from turning the spotlight on dark places, as the committee has done so frequently. The La Follette group is far from completing its work; indeed, it has not yet touched certain important subjects, such as the repressive labor practices said to exist among California farm workers. It should be assured of getting the necessary funds from Congress for continuing its labors, now that Mr. Murphy has given his significant indorsement.

THE WAGNER ACT INQUIRY.

The House of Representatives has ordered a sweeping investigation of the National Labor Relations Board and its policies. Under the resolution of Representative Smith of Virginia, which carried by the heavy margin of 252 to 135, a five-member committee will be created for the purpose of determining the effect which the board has had on employer and employee relations and whether a new agency should be established to administer the Wagner Act.

As may be expected, this development is variously received in the House. Chairman Norton of the House Labor Committee takes it as an affront to her committee, before which bills to restrict the Labor Board are pending. Her appeal to the House was to vote down the resolution and allow "the committee to finish the job it has so well started." Sharing her view were representatives of both parties on the committee. Representative Smith, the sponsor, on the other hand, sees a great opportunity for an urgent public service in the investigation. It is his feeling that "a definite good work can be done for labor, industry and the Government if this matter is looked into calmly."

The profession of deep concern for labor which Mr. Smith makes can be questioned. He has never been identified with the originators or sponsors of labor legislation. Even so, the Labor Board, if its record is as good as it says it is, should have no fear of the investigation which the Virginian has achieved. On the contrary, it should welcome a chance to demonstrate that it has been faithful to its legislative authority in handling the disputes which have come before it.

What the investigation reflects more than anything else perhaps is a feeling in the House that its Labor Committee has bottled up changes which have been proposed for the Wagner Act. Committee control eventually produces reaction on the floor. Now that the investigation has been ordered, let's have it on a fact-finding plane, dedicated to public enlightenment and the end of partisan backbiting and controversy.

THE HOUSING AUTHORITY.

That eagerly awaited and long overdue community enterprise—slum clearance in St. Louis—gets under way with the appointment of the five members of the Municipal Housing Authority. For the new official body, Mayor Dickmann has selected a banker, a labor union official, a Negro high school principal, a business man and a woman. This personnel reflects fully the counsel of Administrator Nathan Straus of the USHA that local housing authorities be representative of community interests and elements.

No group has ever had an opportunity to do more for St. Louis. Fortunately, its members do not need to learn by experience alone. Similar groups in other cities have already worked revivifying transformations. Full information, excellent counsel and help in their work will be accorded the Housing Authority members for the asking. All St. Louis wishes them the fullest success in their work as citizens called to direct the coming of the city's new day in low-cost housing.

VICTORY FOR THE HATCH BILL.

The men the country sent to the House of Representatives did as good a day's work yesterday as they have done all the session. First, they restored the original provisions of the Hatch bill, which made it apply to all Federal employees. Then they passed it by the overwhelming vote of 242 to 133. The bill as it emerges from the House is a notable gain for non-political public service personnel. The spoils system has kept District Attorneys, Marshals and other Federal officers in the thick of partisan politics. When the Hatch bill becomes law, all this will be barred.

If this vote is a victory for the movement to take politics out of the Federal service, it is quite plainly a rebuke to the administration. President Roosevelt has sought to give the impression that he favored the underlying principle of the Hatch bill. What administration leaders have actually thought about it was indicated, however, by the fact that it was tied up in the House Judiciary Committee for months and then came out with changes, which its backers rightly regarded as emasculatory.

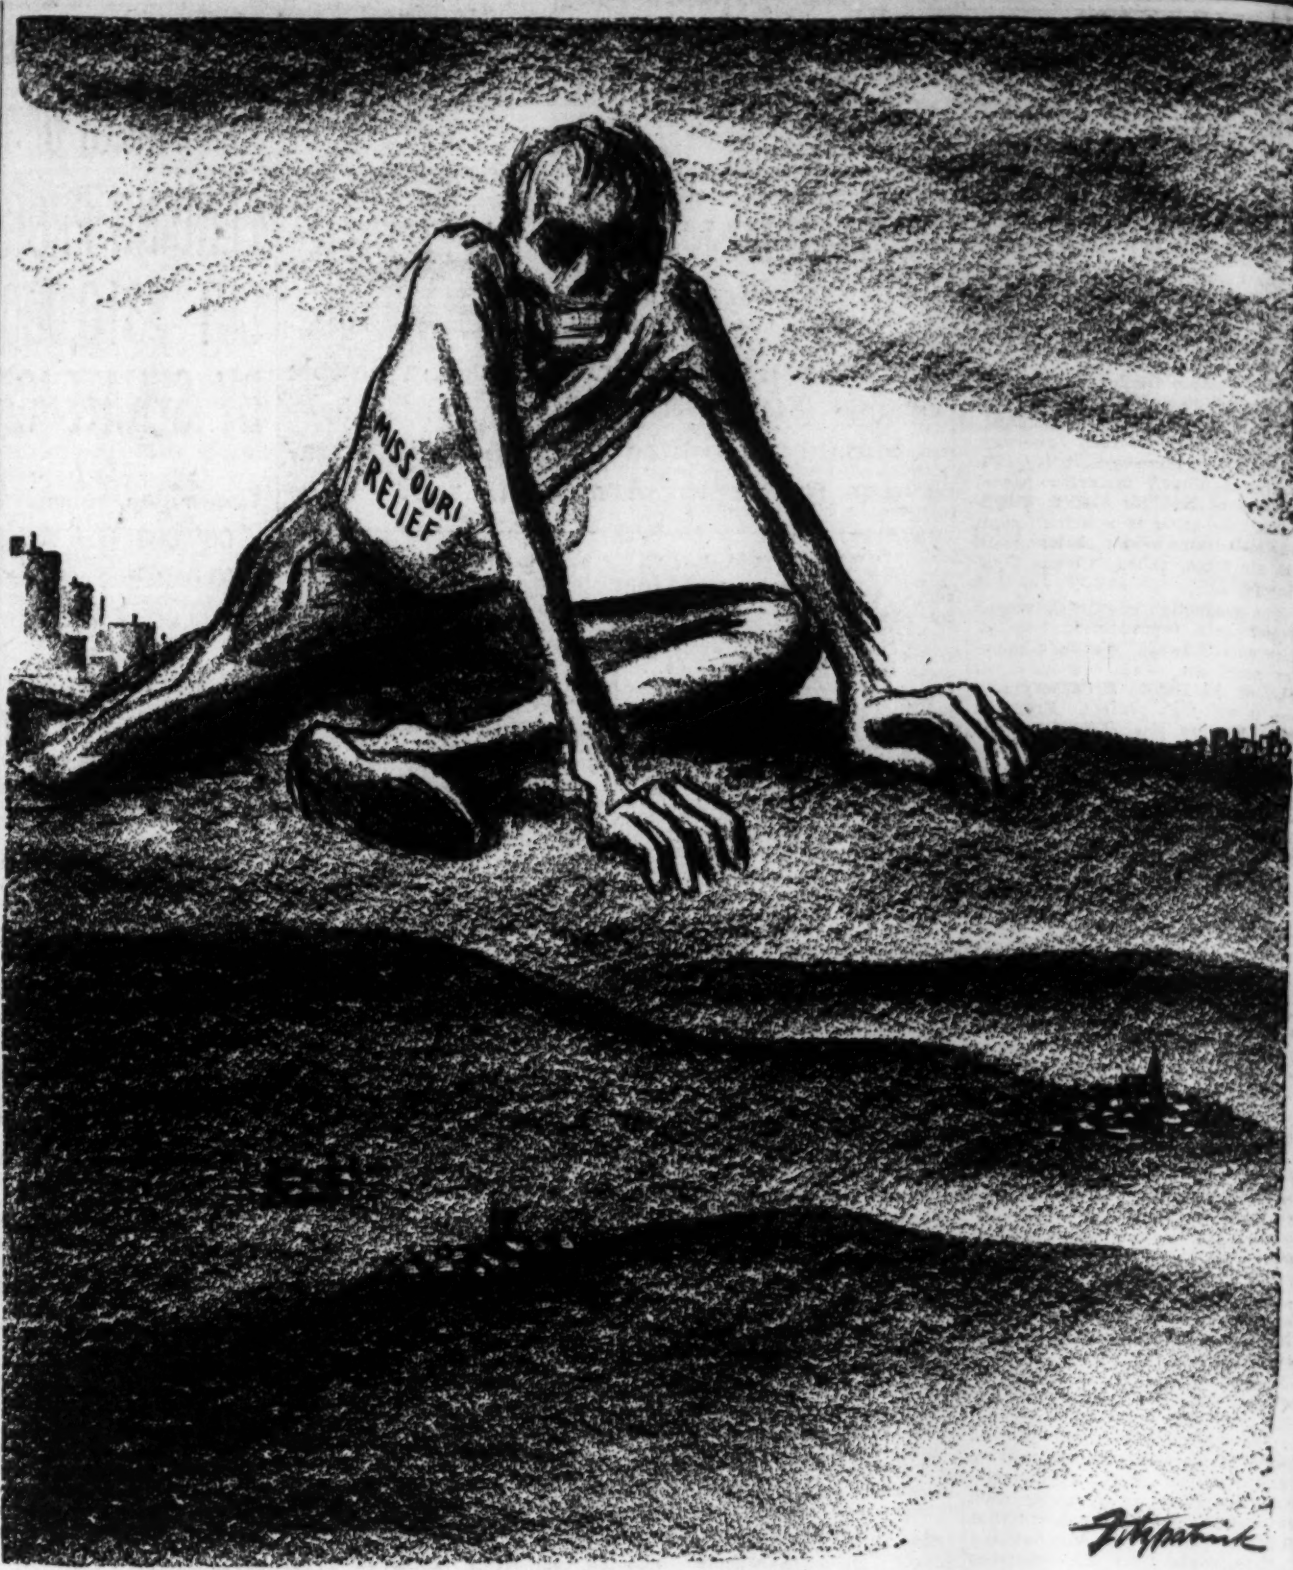

The bill now returns to the Senate for minor adjustments, the Senate having passed it early in the session. Nothing must be allowed to stand in the way of prompt passage. Public opinion calls for the divorcing of politics and the Federal personnel, and President Roosevelt cannot now mistake the command.

As far as St. Louis is concerned, that son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller's is one of the "mute, inglorious Milton boys."

Unicameralism Marks Time

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Other states watch results of Nebraska's experiment with single-chamber Legislature; number of resolutions introduced to accomplish similar change in other commonwealths shows a marked decline; trend to better pay and longer terms for legislators is seen.

Alvin W. Johnson, of the Political Science Department, Pacific Union College, Angwin, Cal., in State Government.

LONG with the remedies that have been proposed to cure our legislative ills is the unicameral Legislature. That these proposals no longer be considered merely as of academic interest, relegated to the limbo of political theorists, has become evident from the number of amendments and resolutions which have been proposed in recent years looking toward the establishment of a one-house Legislature in various states.

The practical aspects of this question were demonstrated when in 1934 the people of Nebraska voted to adopt a one-house Legislature. Public interest rose rapidly and in 1935, in the number of states participating, these districts to the state gave consideration to one or more measures designed to institute the one-house system.
In 1938, an "even year," there were only 12 states that met in regular session. Of these, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York saw the introduction of measures to set up a unicameral Legislature. None was successful.
We turn now to the 1939 legislative season, in which 43 state Legislatures have already met, or are meeting, in regular session. In the number of proposals introduced in favor of a single chamber in order that persons and the number of states participating, the contrast with that of 1937 is significant. In comparison with the more than 40 proposals introduced in 21 states, not counting the states in which committees were appointed to study the question in 1937, only nine amendments provide for the election of Legislature in seven out of the 43 states. In the number of states in which the Legislature in regular session this year have been introduced. Three such proposals were introduced in Washington, and one each in Maryland, Ohio, California, Kansas, Michigan and New Jersey.

There are certain trends which are in evidence from these proposed measures which were even more apparent in the larger number of bills introduced in 1937. For example, in the item of salary there is a general tendency to allow more adequate remuneration for legislators in order that persons may devote a reasonable amount of their time to law-making without too much financial sacrifice. It is also hoped that the higher salary may encourage a better class of men to give their services.
It is also evident from the proposals that the tendency is to provide for the election of members to the one-house Legislature for a longer term of office. Among the measures introduced this year are four which provide for a two-year term of office, and four which provide for a four-year term. The Ohio proposal provides for two classifications—one group known as Senators, to be elected from congressional districts in the state, is to hold office for four years, and the other group, known as Representatives, to be elected from the 80 assembly districts, to hold office for two years. All are to serve in the same house.
It is customary to find that those proposals which favored a four- or six-year term of office rotate; as, for example, in the four-year term half of the members go out every two years. When the amendment was being considered in Nebraska, there were a number of people, including Senator Norris, who favored a four- or six-year term, but the more common biennial election was the one finally approved.
In the size of the Legislature, some of the proposals follow the practice of the Nebraska amendment by specifying a minimum and maximum number of members, leaving the exact number within that range to be determined by the Legislature. Others vary from this practice; some stipulate the exact number while others specify a maximum limit, or, as in the Michigan case, leave the number to be determined entirely by the Legislature without any restrictions.
While the advantages sought in the adoption of a single chamber will undoubtedly be more readily achieved by a comparatively small body, there are indications, especially in the Nebraska experiment, that a larger representation is desirable.
The size of the state and the number of interests to be represented are naturally determining factors. For example, in a small state with few distinct groups to be represented, a smaller body will in many respects be more effective, while the large industrial state would need a larger body in order to insure adequate representation to the various interests in the state.
While the prevailing practice is that of electing members from single-member districts, these districts to be apportioned according to population, there is also a tendency to set up special districts.
In states like California, New York and Ohio where the rural-urban issue in representation has become acute, there is a strong demand for some representation to be based on geographical area. In some states, rural areas have won a dominant position in their present Legislatures. These people are naturally reluctant to give up their positions to the populous cities which they contend do not recognize the needs of the rural sections. The proposals show an effort to give recognition in the adjustment of representation claimed in such cases.
If the number of amendments that have been introduced proposing unicameral Legislatures is indicative of the interest that is being manifested throughout the country in favor of a single chamber, then it would appear that the interest in this subject which has been gaining such momentum in recent years has reached the crest of its popularity and is now on the decline. Such a conclusion, however, may not be a true picture of the situation.
It appears evident that such states as Kansas, South Dakota, Wisconsin, California, Arizona, Ohio, Washington and others where considerable interest has been manifested over a period of years in the subject of unicameralism are, for the most part, standing by. They are availing themselves of the advantages of our federal system of government where one state may try an experiment, and other states may profit by studying the results. These states are eagerly watching and analyzing Nebraska's experiment with her unicameral Legislature before they discard their bicameral system for the single chamber.

EARLY SOCIAL SECURITY.

From the Buffalo Evening News.
The old-fashioned hick town had a kind of pension system. When a man got too old to work and couldn't write insurance, they made him the policeman.
It appears evident that such states as Kansas, South Dakota, Wisconsin, California, Arizona, Ohio, Washington and others where considerable interest has been manifested over a period of years in the subject of unicameralism are, for the most part, standing by. History by a Cartoonist

Books in the News

IF a picture is worth 10,000 words, as the Chinese proverb has it, then a volume of political cartoons is worth a shelf of books on world affairs. Such a calculation is but slightly exaggerated when applied to the new collection of drawings by David Low, the British cartoonist, entitled "A Cartoon History of Our Times" (Simon & Schuster, New York). For Low's agile brush has captured the whole tragic and topsy-turvy course of events in the years from the failure of disarmament efforts to the bitter aftermath of the Munich agreement. (One of his drawings is reprinted on the opposite page.)

All the drawings attack the same vital problem, war or peace, but they divide themselves naturally into the six headings of the book: disarmament, collective security, the Far East, Spain, the axis and the British Empire. There is an informative introduction by Quincy Howe, former editor of the Living Age and an authority of world affairs. Mr. Howe also contributes a brief commentary on each of time and fact, and a biting satire. In lampooning Chamberlain's mild countenance, Hitler's intent stare or Mussolini's defiant chin, he is among the best. More than merely a caricaturist, however, he is also an incisive commentator on events.
Low's criticisms are sharp, but a constructive line runs through all his drawings: support of collective security, and hope for genuine co-operation among the democratic nations against the aggressors.

Many of the pictures in the book have a bitter humor, as in the first, published in May, 1932, which depicts the world money problem as of that date. The nations are in a lifeboat, amid mountainous waves. The stern of the boat is submerged, and at its center Middle Europe is balling for dear life. In the bow, still above water, sit Britain, France and America, looking on with interest. One remarks: "Phew! That's a nasty leak. Thank goodness, it's not at our end of the boat."
Other drawings are of unrelieved grimness, notably that of Nov. 11, 1938. A cracked cornerstone marked "League of Nations" lies under a dark sky in the center of a desolate plain, commanded by a great cannon and a tank. On the stone sit two broad-shouldered figures: frock-coated Nationalism and calow-yoking Resistance.
The cartoonist's task grows more difficult as the world's madness proceeds, says a Low quotation in the foreword. Fantastic events rival the artist's grossest over-statements; sarcasm defeats itself. "The nose turns up unheeded, when observing that the high honor of some state is incompatible with its government's keeping a treaty for more than one week," he says.
F. G.

IT'S a rare author these days who turns out a book a year for three consecutive years and makes them all worth reading. In 1937, C. S. Forester wrote "Beat the Quarter," in 1938, "Ship of the Line," and now "Flying Colours." All three now appear in a fat volume, inclusively titled "Captain Horatio Hornblower" (Little, Brown & Co., Boston), after the hero of this trilogy on the British Navy during the Napoleonic wars. Forester writes as though he had lived in the days when England's "wooden walls" made her the mightiest of nations. Anyone who climbs aboard this three-decker will be in for an exciting cruise without any doldrums. R. R.

TWO EXCELLENT FILMS ON SCREEN AT LO

"On Borrowed Time"
"Clouds Over Europe"
Both Strong as Comedy

By COLVIN McPHERSON

TWO feature films of wide entertainment type arrived on Loew's screen yesterday. One is the comedy-fantasy "On Borrowed Time," featuring Barrymore and Sir Cedric Belfrage; the other is a British comedy-melodrama about espionage, the air force, called "Clouds Over Europe."

The production of "On Borrowed Time," as a reproduction of Lawrence Sanders' novel, is a well-nigh perfect. The main premise, that Death kept up an apple tree, does not stand up to a close scrutiny, but the story is what it was on. The combination of Barrymore and Sir Cedric Belfrage is a perfect one. Barrymore's irate behavior toward Sir Cedric is a perfect example of shrewd humanity, one that Sir Cedric's boyish curiosity, his whole-hearted devotion, and his best professional manner, an exhibition of acting such as seldom encountered.

"On Borrowed Time" is, of course, about Death. Mrs. Belfrage, on her deathbed, calls first on Pud's parents, then on Pud's grandmother, then on Mrs. Belfrage, to persuade Grams to go to the place "where the wreneth." But Grams has a good deal and has received and by that wish can be by an apple tree in the end. Strange, mystifying and things occur during this moment of the usher to eternity.

The story is always a verge of tears, necessarily, packed to the brim with comedy. Audience reception yesterday was enthusiastic, so it is apparent the only persons who will not "On Borrowed Time" are the may not see it.

"Clouds Over Europe" is a novel approach, in that it takes the audience on a tour of government buildings before falling down at Scotland Yard. In the office of Ralph Richardson, it ponders the mystery of the appearance of new bombing. It soon develops that the planes being brought down, on test flights, by an electrical ray on board a salvage ship. The salvage ship, of course, is operated by officers with Teutonic accents.

The idea, therefore, is not particularly new but "Clouds Over Europe" has the comedy touch. "Thin Man," melodrama, "Call of the Wild," fine aerial rap and a view of munition equipment. The delivery of Richardson's performance is most great enough to raise a demand for his appearance in American pictures. Lauren Bacall plays test pilot, and Hobson, a newspaper, completing a very smooth combination.

Of the two features which at the St. Louis Theater day, "Panama Lady" is perhaps more interesting to general audience. It is the story of a certain who helps him to his housekeeper to keep from going to jail. Some bits of give it an edge. "Sorority" is a sample of college life, and will seem a very important to those very much under age.

TWO EXCELLENT FILMS ON SCREEN AT LOEW'S

"On Borrowed Time" and
"Clouds Over Europe"
Both Strong as Comedy.

By COLVIN McPHERSON

TWO feature films of widely different entertainment types, but both of extraordinary interest, arrived on Loew's screen yesterday. One is the comedy-fantasy, "On Borrowed Time," featuring Lionel Barrymore and Sir Cedric Hardwicke; the other is a British comedy melodrama about espionage in the air force, called "Clouds Over Europe."

The production of "On Borrowed Time" as a reproduction of both of the 1927-28 Broadway season's well-known perfect. From its main premise, that death can be kept up an apple tree, down to its fantastic plot, it is a legitimate comedy. "On Borrowed Time" is a comedy of the printed word, and what it was on printed paper and back of the proscenium. The combination of Barrymore as the profane and colorful old Grandpa Northrup, Robs Watson as his grandnephew, and Sir Cedric Hardwicke as the old man's son, is a matchless. From Barrymore's late behavior and grand humanity one turns to Barrymore's curiosity, innocence and whole-hearted devotion, then to Hardwicke's benign dignity and best professional manner. It is an exhibition of acting such as is seldom encountered.

"On Borrowed Time" is, of course, about death. Mr. Brink calls first on his parents, then on his grandnephew, then tries to persuade Grandpa to go to the place where the woodline "wishes." But Grandpa has done a good deed and has received a wish and by that wish can keep Mr. Brink up an apple tree indefinitely. Strange, mystifying and comic things occur during this imprisonment of the usher to eternity.

The story is always on the verge of tears, necessarily, but is packed to the brim with comedy. Audience reception yesterday was enthusiastic, so it is apparent that the only persons who will not like "On Borrowed Time" are those who see it.

"Clouds Over Europe" makes a novel approach, in that it takes the audience on tour of British Government buildings before settling down at Scotland Yard. There, in the office of Ralph Richardson, it ponders the mystery of the disappearance of new bombing planes. It soon develops that the planes are being brought down, on test flights, by an electrical ray on board a salvage ship. The salvage ship, of course, is operated by officers with Teutonic accents.

The idea, therefore, is not particularly new but "Clouds Over Europe" has the comedy touches of "Thin Man," melodrama to equal "Gilling Zero," fine aerial photography and a view of much new little equipment. The delight in Richardson's performance is almost great enough to raise a public demand for his appearance in American pictures. Laurence Olivier plays test pilot and Valerie Hobson is a newspaper woman, completing a very smooth-working combination.

One of the two features which arrived at the St. Louis Theater yesterday, "Panama Lady" is perhaps the most interesting to general audiences. It is the story of a cafe entertainer who helps rob an oil prospector and agrees to work as his housekeeper to keep from going to jail. Some bits of realism give it an edge. "Sorority House" is an example of comedy snobbery and will seem important only to those very much under age.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

St. Louis Guest

SEVERAL visitors in St. Louis for late July brighten the social horizon for those remaining home this summer. Mrs. Florence Parker Busch expects her sister, Mrs. J. W. Henson and daughter, Miss Nellie Henson of Richmond, Va., to arrive Tuesday for an extended visit at her home, Grand View Farm. The Hensons, who are spending a few days in New York before coming to St. Louis, will be here until Sept. 1.

Mrs. Busch's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marion L. J. Lambert, 22 Portland place, and another son, Stafford Lambert are spending the summer at the family lodge at Mir-cqua, Wis.

Miss Elizabeth Weiss of Houston, Tex., arrived yesterday afternoon from New York on her way home from a world cruise, to be a week end guest of Miss Lucile Keeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Keeler, 625 South Skinner boulevard.

Last night Miss Keeler and her guests attended a dinner given by James Grove at Bridlepur Hunt Club, and tonight Miss Weiss's hosts will give a small dinner in her honor at the Keeler home. Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Fallon III and a group of friends will spend the day outdoors at the O'Fallon country place.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeler, Miss Keeler and the Keelers' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Swartz, and their young daughter, Elizabeth, will leave July 31 for Harbor Point, Mich. They will occupy the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ferguson Fowler, which now is leased by Mr. and Mrs. Woodson K. Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. William Glasgow O'Fallon, 6211 McPherson avenue, are entertaining Mrs. O'Fallon's sister, Mrs. James Alby Henderson of Washington, and her daughter, Miss Helen Neil Henderson. They arrived a few days ago to spend two weeks.

Mrs. Edward Field Goltra, 4457 Lindell boulevard, has left for California where she will remain a month or two. She will spend most of her time at Hollywood, visiting with relatives. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. Field Goltra, are spending the summer at Fish Creek, Wis. They expect to be away until after Labor day.

Mrs. Edward J. Walsh, 4341 Westmeadow place, is expected home next Friday. Early last month she went to England with 30 other members of the Garden Club of America to tour famous gardens. After the tour, which lasted about two weeks, she motored through Ireland visiting estates noted for their gardens.

Mrs. Walsh will leave St. Louis early next month and go to Estes Park, Colo., to open her summer home. During the late season she will be visited by her sons-in-law and daughters: Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Corley, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamy, all of Upper Ladue road.

Another St. Louisian at Estes Park is Thomas Skinker Maffitt, 4520 West Pine boulevard, who left a few days ago for the resort. He will remain there until early September. Mrs. Maffitt's plans for her summer holiday are not complete.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Thompson, 117 South Clay avenue, Ferguson, and their daughter, Miss Noel, will leave early next month for a visit in Mexico. They will be away about three weeks.

Miss Caroline Gatch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward H. Gatch, 2 Fordyce lane, left Wednesday for Watch Hill, R. I., to join her parents for the rest of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Gatch and their family are at the summer home of her father, Joseph Gilman Miller.

Judge and Mrs. William Dee Becker, 5374 Deimar boulevard, will arrive today in Sayner, Wis., where they will be guests, until the last of next month, of Mrs. Walter J. Knight and her father, Dr. A. N. Gaebler, 5336 Cabanne avenue, at the Gaebler summer home on Lost Lake.

Judge and Mrs. Becker's son, Alan D. Becker, is spending his summer holiday in Mexico. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Stern, 414 Union boulevard, who have been in New Orleans for the last few days, will leave tomorrow for Mexico to spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gale Barstow, 414 Union boulevard, will motor to Lake Forest, Ill., Monday to spend a few days with Mrs. Barstow's sister-in-law, Mrs. Benjamin Leslie Behr. At the end of their visit they will drive to Douglas, Mich., for a week and then north to Wequetonsing, Mich., to spend

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Niemann of the Maryland Hotel have taken a cottage at Highland Park, Grand Haven, Mich., for the season. Among the St. Louisans they have entertained are the Rev. E. J. Falt, Mrs. Celia Niemann and her daughter, Virginia; Miss Kathryn Mueller, Miss Lydia Toenges and Herbert Toenges. Also visiting them are Mrs. George J. Ryan and her daughters, Diana Maris and Georgia Hazel, all of Williamsburg, Va.

Mrs. Henry Lucke, 15 Black Creek lane, departed recently with a group of St. Louisans on an extensive trip through the Canadian Rockies. She will visit Banff Springs, Lake Louise, Vancouver, B. C., Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore. and San Francisco. She will go to Los Angeles and spend several weeks before returning home in the fall.

St. Louis Guest

MISS MARY BELLE NEAL

DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Neal of Indianapolis, who is the guest of Miss Beryl Weisman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weisman of the Park Plaza. The young women are classmates at Wellesley College.

the rest of the summer at the Roaring Brook Hotel.

Miss Martha Margaret Zell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edward Zell, 307 Jefferson road, Webster Groves, became the bride of Ralph Emerson Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Gentry of Cape Girardeau, Mo., last evening at 8 o'clock at her home.

The Rev. Dr. David M. Skilling performed the ceremony, which took place in the living room before an arch of greenery interspersed with white gladioli. White tapers in tall candelabra stood at either side of the arch and on the mantelpiece and elsewhere in the room were bouquets of white roses and gladioli.

The bride was gowned in an old-fashioned costume of white organdy, the waist fitting tightly and the full skirt falling to a deep flounce ornamented at the upper edge with flat ribbed clusters of white daisies. White velvet ribbon trimmed the low, round neck and the short, puffed sleeves. The veil, which was finger-tip length, was secured to the head by a coronet of orange blossoms and the bouquet was fashioned of white orchids, roses and baby's breath.

Miss Margaret Allison was maid of honor and Miss Helen Singer, bridesmaid. Both wore hoop-skirted gowns of dusty pink net over taffeta, accented by touches of rose velvet ribbon. Their colonial bouquets and hair ornaments were of pastel-tinted asters.

Mrs. Zell was gowned in figured black marquisette and wore a shoulder corsage of orchids. Mr. Gentry wore dark blue shirt crepe with white orchids.

The bridegroom's attendants were the bride's brother, Louis Edward Zell Jr., best man, and Albert Schultz and John Burkle of Cape Girardeau.

After the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room and in the lighted garden. Pink gladioli were banded about the dining room and the table held flat arrangements of pink asters.

The young couple left at a honeymoon and on their return will live at 7255 Big Bend road, Webster Groves.

Mr. Gentry attended Teachers' College at Cape Girardeau and did graduate work at the universities of Missouri and Minnesota. His bride also attended school in Cape Girardeau and the University of Missouri. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta and she of Gamma Phi Beta.

Miss Betty Fitz-Gerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Fitz-Gerald of the Ge road, has gone to Harbor Beach, Mich., where she will visit until after Labor day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Koerber, 7953 Park drive, Hampt, departed last week for Greenwich, Conn., where they will be guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Hallett. After a brief visit at Greenwich, they plan to go on to Naples, Me., where they will remain the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Block, 13 Wydown terrace, have departed for Spring Lake, N. J., where they will spend the season. As has been their custom in the last several years, they will remain until mid-September.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Niemann of the Maryland Hotel have taken a cottage at Highland Park, Grand Haven, Mich., for the season. Among the St. Louisans they have entertained are the Rev. E. J. Falt, Mrs. Celia Niemann and her daughter, Virginia; Miss Kathryn Mueller, Miss Lydia Toenges and Herbert Toenges. Also visiting them are Mrs. George J. Ryan and her daughters, Diana Maris and Georgia Hazel, all of Williamsburg, Va.

Mrs. Henry Lucke, 15 Black Creek lane, departed recently with a group of St. Louisans on an extensive trip through the Canadian Rockies. She will visit Banff Springs, Lake Louise, Vancouver, B. C., Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore. and San Francisco. She will go to Los Angeles and spend several weeks before returning home in the fall.

FIRST COLOR PICTURES

Astronomer Finds Strong Evidence of Plant Life; Planet Swinging Closer to Earth

BLOEMFONTEIN, Union of South Africa, July 21 (AP).—Strong evidence that plant life exists on Mars was advanced today by Dr. Earl C. Slipher, American astronomer, after observation of the planet which is closer to the earth this month than at any time since 1924.

Slipher, brother of the director of the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., reported clearing weather enabled him Wednesday night to take the first successful color pictures of Mars.

His theory is founded on an apparent change in the planet's surface regarded as his most important discovery.

The huge dark spot (Solis Lacus), or great eye of Mars, seems to have assumed a shape not observed for 50 years if ever before. Slipher indicated this was strong evidence that life exists on the planet and suggested the change was due to fresh vegetation over an area roughly the size of the United States.

Comment From London.

In London, Dr. W. H. Stevenson, the Royal Astronomical Society's Martian authority, declared Dr. Slipher's studies undoubtedly would result in greater knowledge about vegetation on Mars and should remove any remaining doubt that the theory of man-made canals on Mars is anything but "sheer poppycock."

Slipher and many other astronomers are in the Southern Hemisphere to observe the planet.

On July 27, Mars will swing the closest it has been to the earth in 15 years—only 36,000,000 miles away. Mars' eye is near its southern ice cap which now is breaking up with the arrival of Martian spring giving vegetation of the region darker blue and green shades.

Separate Regions Observed.

Separate regions which are not distinguishable to the eye were observed by Slipher with a special photographic apparatus used with spectroscopic plates of varying wave lengths.

To determine definite vegetation density a special chlorophyll detector is to be used shortly by Slipher, who directed the astronomical search which a few years ago led to discovery of the new planet Pluto.

After Mars approaches closest to the earth a week hence, the American astronomer plans to go to Johannesburg for further studies of the planet.

18 Dwarf Stars Discovered With New Telescope.

PARIS, July 21 (AP).—The most remarkable discoveries of the new telescopes, 18 dwarf stars, which are masses of fire compressed until the "flames" are thousands of times heavier than steel, were described to the conference on astrophysics here today.

New facts about these strange objects were reported by Dr. G. P. Kuiper, associate professor of astronomy, University of Chicago. The dwarf stars range in size from that of the earth down to the moon. But each of them is from 150,000 to 800,000 times heavier than the earth. Moreover, said Dr. Kuiper, the smaller the dwarf, in general, the heavier it is.

FOUR ST. LOUIS U. HONOR
SCHOLARSHIPS TO GIRLS

Carry Part Tuition and Are Renewable Yearly for Four Years on "B" Grade Average.

Honor scholarships providing part tuition at St. Louis University School of Education and Social Sciences have been awarded to four young women graduates of St. Louis Catholic schools, it was announced today by Dean Leo R. Kennedy.

The recipients are Miss Mernice Badaracco, 3140 Olive street; Miss Mary Jane Flood, 7241 Amherst avenue; Miss Marcia Kemp, 5163 Vernon avenue, and Miss Mary Ann Murphy, 6229 Washington avenue.

The scholarships are renewable at the end of each year for four years, if a "B" average is maintained in studies.

PATRICK MEENAN, RETIRED
E. ST. LOUIS DETECTIVE, DIES

Fire Captain Before He Joined Police Force 22 Years Ago as Patrolman.

Patrick Edward Meenan, former captain in the East St. Louis Fire Department, who retired on pension from the Police Department Sept. 1 after 22 years as patrolman and detective, died last night at St. Mary's Hospital of peritonitis.

Since his retirement he had been employed as watchman at the East St. Louis relief office. He had served 15 years as a fireman before joining the police force.

He was 67 years old and resided at 7104 Trembley avenue. His wife and a son who lives in Dayton, O., survive him.

LITTLE SYMPHONY
ENDS FIFTH SEASON

Meeting to Be Held Tonight at Park Plaza to Make Plans for Next Year.

WITH a program which included the premiere presentation of a new orchestral suite by Paul Nordoff and the appearance of a vocal soloist, Nancy Hitch Fordyce of St. Louis, the Little Symphony closed its fifth season last night in the Washington University quadrangle. The concert, postponed from Tuesday, drew an audience of 800 persons, the smallest of three attendances this year.

A report on the season as a whole will be made tonight in a special meeting at the Park Plaza Hotel at 8:30 o'clock, to which not only guarantors but all others interested in the Little Symphony are invited. Plans will be made for next season and, according to an announcement made at intermission last night, there will be no solicitation of funds.

Last night's program, which opened with the Sinfonia Concertante for Violin and Violoncello with Orchestra of Johannes Christian Bach and closed with De Falla's Spanish Dance from "La Vida Breve" was one of great variety but never seemed to reach a peak of interest.

The new Nordoff suite applies to the many tricks and experiments of modern instrumentation to conventional dance forms, without much attempt to charm the listener. The one tasty bit in it was a tango which had a curiously vulgar sound at times that might not have been out of place in a swing band.

The Bach number, which received the solo efforts of Joseph Faerber and Max Stindell, suffered somewhat from sound reproduction which denied it a proper balance. This also was the case with Mrs. Fordyce's first selection, a Recitative and Air from Debussy's "L'Enfant Prodigue," in which the more brilliant passages gave the effect of being unbalanced. Lighting of the soloist's face verged on the grotesque.

Mrs. Fordyce did, however, return to the program in two Richard Strauss songs—"Traum durch die Dämmerung" and "Caelle," which were far better appreciated. The ever-popular "Capriccio" Symphony of Mozart, which opened the second half of the program, was filled with welcome melody and familiar sound. The allegro seemed nearly lost some of its majesty in the night air and the finale seemed almost unbalanced. The conductor Hans Lang brought forth the melodic beauty of the slow movement and the princess of the minuet in full measure.

Two characteristic pictures of different lands—Dubinsky's "In Old Russia" and the De Falla dance—followed to close the concert.

STARK GUEST OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR IN LOS ANGELES

Missouri Executive and Party Also Visit Movie Studios and Attend Alumni Dinner.

LOS ANGELES, July 21 (AP).—Gov. Olson of California introduced Gov. Stark of Missouri to a delegation through here yesterday as "the man who brought clean politics to Missouri." Gov. Stark arrived with a party of Missourians returning home from the San Francisco Exposition. He and his party were guests of Olson at a luncheon, and after a tour of movie studios they attended a University of Missouri alumni dinner.

Of the recent conviction of Tom Pendergast of Kansas City, Stark said:

"That's the way we do things in Missouri. Citizens of all political parties joined forces in the interest of good government. The Pendergast matter is finished business."

At Warner's studio, Jack L. Warner asked Stark jokingly if he would like a contract.

"No," replied Stark. "I've got one now—with the State of Missouri." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was host to the Governor's party today. The delegation planned to start for home late today.

DENTISTS EXPECTED TO OFFER
PLAN TO LOW INCOME GROUPS

New President of American Dental Association Tells of Prepayment Insurance Proposal.

MILWAUKEE, July 21 (AP).—Dr. Arthur H. Merritt of New York, who took office yesterday as president of the American Dental Association, said the nation's organized dentists probably would offer within a year a voluntary prepayment insurance plan to help low income groups meet dental bills.

A committee will study the problem, he said.

"We will present plans that we think will be fair to the taxpayer, the recipient of dental care and to the profession," Dr. Merritt said. "Our conclusions will be based on a survey made with the help of thousands of dentists."

650 Ideas on East Side
On How to Create New Jobs

Youths in Illinois N Y A Contest Suggest Everything From Bill-Collecting Pickets to Beauty Shop on Wheels.

More than 650 suggestions on how to create jobs, usually through some new invention or personal service, were offered by young men and women of the East St. Louis district in a State-wide contest sponsored by the National Youth Administration in Illinois.

Most ideas were methods of making things easier for housewives. One girl, for example, suggested a city-wide shopping service to help find an elusive article or to come to the aid of those who cannot shop because they are ill or have no car.

A young man offered to save housewives the "spring and fall tussle with unwieldy window screens" by cleaning and installing them himself, at 15 cents a screen.

A young woman submitted this idea: "Attention working wives! Are you too tired to prepare dinner when you get home from work? Or, do you have enough time to cook a well-balanced meal? Let me do it for you. Everything included from the hot rolls to the dessert and beverage."

Girls' Work Co-Operative.

Another suggested a co-operative for NYA girls who have a lot of time on their hands. They would take care of children when parents wanted to go out, look after the sick, do housework, sew, knit and crochet, and one day a week have a bakery sale or candy sale in a downtown building.

Rather than scatter their energy at such diverse pursuits, another girl recommended creation of a group of specialists, one to do nothing but wash woodwork, another to wash windows, a third to cook and so on.

And to collect bills, one young man suggested an agency with men wearing "devil suits" to haunt the sidewalk in front of the home of the "bill bearer."

DR. G. F. DONOVAN TALKS ON STATE CONTROL OF YOUTH

Webster College Head Warns Against So-Called Political Discipline for Young.

Dr. George F. Donovan, president of Webster College, speaking today at a luncheon meeting of the Downtown Optimist Club at Hotel Statler, asserted that education was being menaced by substitution of so-called political discipline for intellectual and parental discipline of youth.

"The concrete dangers," he asserted, "are consolidation of large school areas under State control, the tax by states on voluntary accreditation associations, the Federal aid to education particularly through the National Youth Administration and the WPA, the proposal for a Federal Department of Education and increased taxation. If this program is allowed to continue, he said, the results will be disintegration of local democracy, decline of a belief in God, extension of a mass education idea to the detriment of the individual, a growing emphasis on physical equipment only, elimination of the personal relationship between student and teacher, and a weakening of the liberal arts tradition.

CITY DEFERS DECISION ON REQUEST FOR PARK

Planning Board Committee to Consider Action on Jacob Stocke's Will.

The question of acceptance of a playground willed to the city by Jacob Stocke, brick manufacturer, was referred to its recreation committee by the City Plan Commission yesterday, after counsel for those designated in the will to select the site requested appointment of a city representative to confer with them.

Mr. Stocke, who died in 1921, provided $40,000 in his will for purchase of a playground to be named after him, but a court decision in 1936, construing the will, indicated that not more than $16,000 might be available. Jesse McDonald, chairman of the plan commission, inquired whether the money might be used for maintenance of existing playgrounds, but it was apparent that this was not possible.

President William L. Mason of the Board of Aldermen, a member of the commission, said it was unlikely the city would accept an additional playground, because of the financial burden of caring for those it has now.

Belief that there were sufficient playgrounds now was expressed by President Baxter L. Burton of the Board of Public Service, another commissioner.

The commission discussed, but took no action, on the request of the General Council on Civic Needs for a statement of attitude on a petition of about 5000 citizens for establishment of a cross-town bus line, between Baden and Gravois avenue, crossing Forest Park between De Baliviere and Hampton avenues.

WEEK'S NEW FINANCING

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP).—Public offerings of new securities during the week ended yesterday totaled $191,924,750, the highest since the week ended May 25, according to Poor's Publishing Co. reported today.

Of the total, $100,000,000 was required to provide additional capital, the remainder to refund existing obligations.

Less than 10% of the new issues consisted of municipal issues. Private financing reached its highest figure this year, with $100,000,000 of new issues, or 52% of 2½ per cent debentures was the largest individual financing in more than a year.

YUGOSLAVS FORTIFYING FRONTIER ON GERMANY

Officers Say Purpose Is to Insure Neutrality in Event of War.

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia, July 21 (AP).—Yugoslavia is building fortifications along its German frontier as "neutrality insurance," army circles disclosed today. Five thousand carloads of material have been ordered for construction of artillery emplacements, pill boxes and tank barricades at border points, they said. The army men asserted there was no contradiction between the defense program and Yugoslavia's cordial relations with Germany, emphasized by Regent Prince Paul's visit to Adolf Hitler in June. "The new fortifications are for the purpose of preserving our strict neutrality in case of a conflict involving neighboring countries," it was stated.

Yugoslavia joined Bulgaria in a declaration of "independence and neutrality," July 10. Among the 1,200,000 Slovenes who live in the northern wedge of Yugoslavia, bordered by Italy, Germany and Hungary, relief over the army's program is expressed publicly. Bitter enmity has grown up between the Slovenes and the German minority of 50,000 because of Nazi activity. Slovene Nationalists accused the German minority of organizing secret military units and working for German intervention in Slovenia. At Marenburg, police were called out recently to protect German residents from a mob which broke windows in their shops and homes.

A boycott against German traders began to spread after the Nazi flag was raised surreptitiously over the town hall at Ptuj on Adolf Hitler's birthday, May 20, last year.

CIGARETTE VENDING MACHINE MEN AGREE TO BUY PERMITS

City Collector Says 2000 Licenses Will Be Required for Devices.

After contending that $1 merchant licenses were not needed for automatic cigarette vending machines, operators of the machines yesterday informed License Collector Fred A. Renick they had agreed to buy the licenses in connection with the city's new cigarette stamp tax. They began filing applications. Renick explained that strict enforcement relating to machines had been delayed temporarily, pending consideration of legal details. He said he thought more than 2000 licenses would be required for them, besides 6000 licenses to merchants. Revenue from sale of stamps so far totals more than $60,000.

After 25 or more sub-jobbers of cigarettes, accompanied by a lawyer, called on Renick today, he reversed, pending inquiry by the city law department, his ruling that all cigarettes in their establishments, whether intended for retail or wholesale trade, had to bear tax stamps. As requested by the sub-jobbers, only the retail portion of the supply must be stamped. It had been Renick's idea that there was no way of distinguishing between the two stocks.

FOUR ST. LOUIS CONVICTS FILE PAROLE APPLICATIONS

They Are Stanley Rygalski, Bernard Howard, Charles English and William McCoy.

Four St. Louis convicts have filed applications for parole, which will be heard next week by the State Board of Probation and Parole at Jefferson City. They are Stanley Rygalski, Bernard Howard, Charles English and William McCoy, the last named two Negroes.

Rygalski received a 10-year term in Alcoa Reformatory in 1935, on his plea of guilty of a series of robberies. English received a life sentence in 1933, when convicted on a first-degree murder charge arising out of the shooting of a Negro in a policy game holdup. Howard was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary in 1937 on his plea of guilty of first degree robbery. A jury gave McCoy a 75-year sentence for the murder of a Negro woman in 1932.

POLICEMEN CATCH ROBBERS BEFORE KNOWING OF HOLDUP

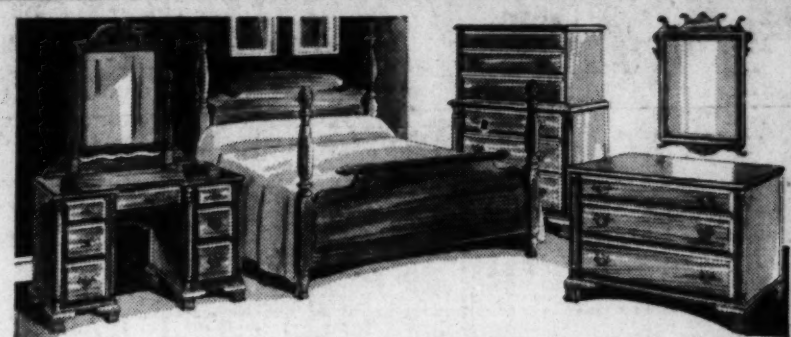

East St. Louis Officers Questioning Two Armed Men When They Hear Radio Report.

Two armed men were arrested by East St. Louis police last night, a few minutes after they had held up three persons on the river front and taken an automobile. Policemen who saw the pair drive into a parking lot in the 300 block of East Broadway stopped them for questioning. One of the police fired a shot in the air when one of the men started to run. While the policemen were questioning the pair, they heard a police radio broadcast of the holdup. The men gave their names as Clarence Biggs, 24 years old, of Dupon, and Joe Cleaves, 22, East St. Louis. They signed statements admitting the holdup.

BOTH DRIVERS IN CRASH FINED

Each Had Charged Other With Careless Driving; One Gets 30 Days. Drivers who charged each other with careless driving after a collision June 18 at Jefferson avenue and North Market street, both were fined $90 today by Police Judge Frank E. Mathews, but one, Andrew Kehoe, 3001 North Jefferson avenue, was fined an additional $90 and sentenced to 30 days in the Workhouse for driving while intoxicated.

Both he and the other, Hubert Winker, 1930 Salisbury street, said they would appeal.

High Notes Of an Anthem

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, July 21.

If a patriotic, high-class tenor can't sing "The Star Spangled Banner," who can? On this sound thesis, attorneys for Frederick Jagel, American-born tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, are prepared to file a petition in Federal District Court attacking the legality of "The Star Spangled Banner" as the national anthem.

FREDERICK JAGEL

Congress has the right to declare war, boost taxes, filibuster, regulate Wall street and pass out pensions. But Jagel, head of the new National Anthem Club, will contend that the people's choices in 1931 had no right to designate as the national anthem a tonsil-twister such as "The Star Spangled Banner."

Furthermore, it is a low tune with too many high notes, the petition will state. "The vindictive, unpoetic" words written by Francis Scott Key have been wedded to an ancient bar-room ballad with a difficult range of one and one-fifth octave. And no one can be at home on a range like that, not even a tenor, Jagel insists.

NOR IS THE METROPOLITAN'S embattled tenor content with a mere court fight to have "The Star Spangled Banner" counted out as America's national anthem. Jagel, now aboard the S. S. Uruguay bound for the opera season in Rio de Janeiro, warned Dance Maestro Vincent Lopez, composer of a musically modified Star Spangled Banner, to come out in the alley and fight.

Or rather, to come into Carnegie Hall and argue the matter out, catch as catch can and no holds barred. In a radio message, Jagel challenged Lopez, organizer of a Star Spangled Banner Association, to a public debate on the subject, Lopez to defray 40 per cent of the expenses of such a debate; Jagel, 60 per cent. Jagel, in his long distance challenge to Lopez, who is now playing at the Claridge Hotel in Memphis, Tenn., wants to debate two propositions:

1. "Resolved that 'The Star Spangled Banner' is unworthy of being our national anthem both musically and in text, and that Congress usurped its powers in thrusting this ignoble hodge-podge upon us as our national anthem, and

2. "That Vincent Lopez's arrangement of 'The Star Spangled Banner' (or any other arrangement) is not worthy of being our national anthem."

IN BRIEF, EVEN if it was good, Jagel wouldn't like "The Star Spangled Banner." The Vincent Lopez rearrangement of the song, eliminating those high notes that have been a constant source of trial and error for the American public, is just as unacceptable as the original tune, which Jagel says is a type for which the ancient Greeks had a word: Anacreontic. An anacreontic was something the Greeks sang in honor of Anacreon, their god of hilarity, mirth and revelry, who was no better than he should have been.

So the tune to which we sing our national anthem is what the three-bottle Greek burst into, in lieu of "Sweet Adeline," some 2500 years ago. Nor does Jagel see any possibility that the American in the world of tomorrow will be better able to wrap this tune around his larynx. In the tenor's opinion, even the lyrics are only slightly less offensive than the tune. What's worse, Jagel charges, no one can remember the words.

Nor is Jagel prepared to stand idle by while Lopez campaigns for congressional support of a law to designate as a legal holiday Sept. 14, the day on which Key wrote the "Star Spangled Banner."

In the meantime, all proceeds from Lopez's copyrighted version of an easier-to-sing Star Spangled Banner, with the basic melodic design untouched and only the high notes eliminated, are turned over to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane of Northwestern University

CASE M-171: Alicia B., aged 16, is interested in music. She has been studying the accordion, and appeared on a program at a sorority meeting where I gave a talk. Midway of her first number she became so self-conscious and embarrassed that she began to strike the wrong notes. She blushed and finally tried to repeat a few measures.

But she grew more confused. Tears came to her eyes and she rushed from the room, failing to complete her number. Later I found her dabbing at her eyes with a damp handkerchief. She thought that she had been a miserable failure. That people were laughing at her discomfiture. That nobody would care to be friends with her any more. Most of you readers know how she felt, for we have all suffered her dejection to a greater or lesser degree.

WHAT MOST PEOPLE fail to realize is the simple fact that nobody has a corner on misery and unhappiness. Alicia has plenty of company. Some of the greatest musicians and orators, artists and scientists have been laughed at when they started on their careers. It is inevitable that beginners should feel nervous and self-conscious.

Professional nonchalance and platform poise are habits, born of long practice in just such trying situations. You cannot be calm and collected the first time you try to perform in public.

Alicia was likewise mistaken in believing we were laughing at her misery. Most of us were secretly rooting for her, for we saw at the outset her nervous state and realized she was an amateur.

There is no disgrace in failing, especially if you've diligently tried. When learning any new habit, we necessarily will make mistakes after mistake. But we should never surrender to a failure and let it become our master. Never grovel as a slave before our error, thus enshrining it for life. Always be king of your failures, utilizing them to your further advantage or advancement. Boss them around instead of meekly submitting to them. Tear them apart and see what made them occur. Profit by them. Cash in on them!

IN SCIENCE, negative findings as a result of a lengthy experiment are as valid and often as helpful as positive findings. If you have a fever, it is valuable to the physician to know that you do NOT have typhoid or tularemia, diphtheria or scarlet. In fact, some diagnoses are made by such process of elimination.

Without some pain in our lives we'd not be able to appreciate pleasure. It requires winter to make us rejoice in summer weather. Many of the greatest successes in business are a product of many failures. But these failures were intelligently dissected so they formed valuable lessons for the future.

In my college classes I administer weekly quizzes. The students often make errors. But they learn to correct these before the final examination occurs, so their weekly mistakes better fortify them for the big quiz of the year.

After a little chat with Alicia, I persuaded her to give us the accordion number, anyway. She consented and performed very well. But the best part of it was her refusal to let defeat check her progress.

Remember the rule among the aviators. They must go aloft after a crash, if they are physically able, so they leave success behind them. This is an excellent rule. Be king of your failures instead of their slave!

JUDGMENT looks a little above par today, and it also looks as though we would need it, for the rest of the vibrations are those of temptations into unwise pathways from which retreat is the only good way out. Control lower emotions.

Your year ahead accents reputation and ambition—can be very important year: steer clear of forcing issues or undertaking too much—avoid greed. More responsibility looms—take it. Danger: Feb. 12, 22, and June 21-July 11, 1940.

"All the unhappiness of the past, all my selfishness melted away. I feel now she belongs not alone to me but to the world," said Mama Brancato next morning. She could go back to Kansas City satisfied.

A Prima Donna's Mother

By Marguerite Martyn

MRS. MADALENA BRANCATO

"But it was not like this," the mother insisted. "That was grand opera, just voice and I could hear her sing at home or when I tune in her programs on the radio. This was light opera and never did I dream my little girl could act so well. I cried, yes. Josie said I must not get so excited. People all around were looking at me."

All this and much more was ejaculated in Italian with profuse Latin gestures, the two daughters, Mrs. Josefina Bono and Rosemarie, translating a phrase here and there.

Donna Brancato, in 39 years she has lived in this country, never has had time to learn English, nor felt the need of it for that matter, dwelling always in the Italian quarter of Kansas City, delivering all the babies there, taking active leadership in the Italian church and being regarded as chief maternal counselor of the whole neighborhood. She has been a licensed obstetrician, having graduated in that profession at the Royal University of Palermo.

"We hardly ever saw our mother, only for brief snatches between cases," said Rosemarie. "That was the argument I put up to her when I wanted to have an independent career. But I had to fight for it. About the time my father died I graduated from the Eastman School of Music at Rochester. My mother thought I should be content to come home and sing only for the family and the neighborhood. Besides there was no more money. My father was one who always would fall for any hard luck story told him by an Italian. After his death we found ourselves with nothing but a lot of almost useless mortgages. But for my brother-in-law, Peter Bono, lending me the money when I needed it, many a time I would have been very hard up in New York."

Meantime Mama Brancato was excitedly rattling off a long narrative in which I could only tell there was both humor and pathos.

"She is telling you of my grand entrance. She says it was 'terrific,'" translated Rosemarie. "She says she should have interpreted it as a prophecy of my destiny, that I would be a prima donna in spite of all she could do. I was born on the feast day of the Holy Rosary and All Angels, one of the greatest feast days in the Italian religious calendar. It is a day when they bring out all their most splendid banners and march in processions with bands. Our house was just across the street from the church so naturally the bands stopped and played there. While I was being born there was all that music. So that was my grand entrance. And it is because my birthday was the feast of the Rosary I was named Maria Rosa."

"Now she is telling you of my grand entrance. She says it was 'terrific,'" translated Rosemarie. Declarer Plays His Hand Well, Defense Poor Expert in East Position Could Have Defeated Contract.

By Ely Culbertson

"DEAR MR. CULBERTSON: The following is the most interesting hand I have ever observed. Usually the kibitzers, after glancing at several hands, feel a pitying superiority to the declarer who sees but two hands. This time, however, the kibitzers saw enough to make him gasp in envy. South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

South West North East

3 spades Pass 4 spades Pass
6 spades Pass 6 spades Double

West opened the club ace and continued the suit, declarer winning with the king. A low spade was led to dummy's king and, on the spade return, East split his honors, forcing declarer's queen. When West showed out it was obvious that only a coup could trap East's trump trick. Hence, declarer now laid down the diamond ace, this led a low heart toward dummy. Realizing that three entries would be required in dummy for the play he had in mind, declarer boldly put in the nine spot and, to his satisfaction, it held. Now declarer had to try a play whose success depended on sheer nerve. Declarer nonchalantly led the club queen from dummy! East went into a huddle and glanced at declarer suspiciously, but after much thought decided that declarer was trying to get him to ruff this trick so that he, declarer, could overruff. East felt that he might escape the impending coup if he were to refuse to ruff. He discarded a heart and declarer calmly followed suit with the club six! Now a diamond was ruffed with the four of trumps, then the heart jack was overtaken with the queen, and the last diamond was ruffed with the spade eight. Declarer now was down to the ace-nine of spades and the king of hearts. West's hand did not matter. North still had the heart ace and the two clubs; East, the J-7 of spades and the eight of hearts. Declarer led the heart king to the ace and sent a club through East. Obviously, the club was trapped under the A-9, and declarer's contract was home.

"What we would all like to know is: What would an expert in East position have done on the third club lead?"
C. D. Illinois

No one can deny that the hand was beautifully played by the declarer, but to answer the specific question, I rush to the defense of experts with the opinion that a expert in the East position would have defeated the contract by ruffing the third round of clubs.

After South had cashed the ace of diamonds and entered dummy with the nine of hearts (a brilliant play, but one which would have been nullified had West miraculously put up the heart ten), East should have had a clear picture of South's holding. South had already been shown to hold 13 spades, at least two clubs and the diamond ace. The fact that the nine of hearts held proved that South's hearts, however many, were solid. When the high club was led from dummy, East should have reasoned as follows: If he failed to ruff, and South had no more clubs but did have a losing diamond, or a fourth heart, (he, declarer) would discard. Next, declarer would ruff a diamond, then enter dummy with a heart, and ruff dummy's last diamond, thereby shortening the South hand to the A-4 of trumps, against East's J-7. Finally, the heart king would be overtrumped with the ace and East would have to follow suit. Now, with the play in dummy, any card led would have to be ruffed by East, and South would overruff, thereby completing the coup.

Thus, since careful analysis would have proved to East that there was nothing to be gained by refusing to ruff the club queen, pure logic would have dictated the ruff of this card as the only possible chance to defeat the contract.

Oven Control
The beauty of the stove that has automatic oven control is that the oven stays just the same heat while the door is open and you are basting the roast or testing the cake. Consequently when the food must be put back for further cooking the temperature of the oven has not been lowered and apt to cause trouble in the cooking.

Backaches

YOU can't take advantage of your summer vacation any until you accomplish the result you desire for the winter—your back. The other parts of the frame of your body are sore and painful. Of these, backache is the most annoying. Very few of us know how to get rid of a backache. A definition of backache is a "stiff, aching, or painful condition of the back, usually accompanied by restricted motion of the spine. The male of the species is usually subject to the complaints of the female.

"The commonest backache is by the patient 'lumbago,' 'rheum,' or 'sprain.' It is definitely associated with strain or overexertion. A woman who has had an attack of back pain 12 years ago, who attributed to lifting. Every time she lifted a box, she felt the usual exertion, such as playing golf or tennis, she had a recurrence.

These cases are classified as classified by specialists, but for very rare diseases, such as arthritis of the spine, the almost invariably due to infection where it lights is not explain, even with all the instruments of modern science.

Removal of the infective focus by the use of heat and manipulation rest—are the best treatment. We have to suffer these disabilities. O. Henry once wrote a very story about his doctor. He went to a good man and what they all said was finally summed up in the
